Society, serving as organist under several presidents for eight years, theology teacher, second counselor, quilt committee, district visiting teacher, Beehive teacher, and Sunday school secretary when in high school.

Lizzie was secretary of the Garden Club, Ladies Auxiliary Firemen, secretary and organist for Daughters of Utah Pioneers Forget-me-not Camp, and secretary of the DUP County Board. She was instrumental in compiling and publishing the Centennial History of Wasatch County, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains" in 1963. Lizzie enjoyed needlework and loved plants and flowers, receiving many awards at county fairs.

Owen and Lizzie celebrated their Golden Wedding January 6, 1968 with their family and many friends.

Closing a lifetime of service, Lizzie died June 6, 1974, at the age of 79, and Owen died May 16, 1982, at age 87, at Heber City.

Owen and Lizzie's posterity now numbers 6 children, 22 grandchildren, 39 great-grandchildren and 3 great, greatgrandchildren.

BURTON, Neal J. and Lynda Foote

Neal J. Burton was born July 10, 1946, in Payson, Utah to Paul Garr and Lois Hill Burton. He obtained most of his schooling in Spanish Fork, Utah. He then attended Brigham Young University and received a B.S. degree in Zoology. Neal graduated from the University of Utah, with his Medical degree, and completed a three year Family Practice Residency in San Bernadino, California. While living in the Heber 2nd Ward, he began his private practice at the Wasatch Medical Clinic in July of 1975. He was the second counselor to Bishop Jerry Smith. He also fulfilled an LDS mission to New Zealand.

Dr. Neal J. Burton is now serving as the Bishop of the Charleston Utah Ward.

Lynda Foote Burton was born February 23, 1948, in Salt Lake City, Utah to Dr. Leonard H. and Lauana Whitaker Foote. She attended school in Spanish Fork then graduated from the BYU with a B.S. degree in Home Economics in 1969. She married Neal September 3, 1968. She was a counselor to Mima Rasband in the Relief Society Presidency, during the time she lived in the Second Ward.

Their children are as follows: Melanie, Alisa, Jonathan, Emily, Christopher, Raymon and Ashlianne.

BUYS, Archie DeVera and Florence Edna Bonner

Archie DeVera Buys was born in Buysville (now Daniels), Utah Wasatch County. He was the son of Edward and Celestia Clarissa Brownley Buys, born January 6, 1888, and died June 7, 1979.

He married Florence Edna Bonner August 28, 1907. She was born in Midway, Utah, daughter of George Bonner, Jr. and Phebie Annette Alexander, born May 6, 1888, and died February 22, 1947.

They were married March 27, 1918, then later the marriage was solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple.

They had eight children, four boys and four girls: Bonner E. Buys, June Neilson, Virginia Muir, Dorothy Haueter, Russell B. Buys, Rex B. Buys, Archie Dale Buys, Maxine Huffaker.

In Archie Buys' youth he worked for Labon Hylton at the livery stable as a driver for the drummers (sales representative) to various places throughout the valley. He worked for many years as a salesman at the Heber City Exchange and Heber Mercantile, and later owned and operated the Buys Confectionery. He was one of the original volunteer firemen of Heber Valley. He was fieldman for Woods Cross Canning Company. For over thirty years he was City Judge and County Justice of the Peace. He was active in the Church, holding the office of a High Priest. He served in the Sunday School Superintendency, Sunday School teacher, MIA and Boy Scout troop committeeman.

Florence loved her home, and she was a wonderful wife and mother. She served in the Primary presidency, Primary teacher, MIA and Relief Society.

BUYS, Grace Anderson Crook Buys

Grace Buys was born September 11, 1899, in Cobden, Ill.

On June 1, 1922, she married John Floyd Crook. To this union was born three daughters, Eloise (Daley), Phyllis (Ladner), and Bernice (Mrs. Dale Sessions).

After twenty four years of marriage, John died in the Salt Lake

DUKE, Merrill and Lois Hicken

Merril Duke, son of George Duke and Hilda Young Duke, and Lois Hicken, daughter of Thomas Warren and Lulu Pearl Moulton Hicken, were married in the spring of 1936 by Bishop Fred Carlile. Merrill found Lois when he came up from Provo, where he was born, to attend a Duke reunion. Their marriage was sealed in the Salt Lake Temple in March 1944. At that time, they lived near her parents so they were able to help them and develop a special relationship with them. Merrill worked at several places including a year in Alaska. Then he was inducted into the U.S. Navy. After he completed his tour of duty in 1945, he worked for Storm McDonald. Then the family moved to Sunnyside. While Merrill was away, Lois mothered the family and became a handwork specialist.

Merril suffered an industrial accident while he was working for Kaiser Steel. Since it made corrective surgery necessary, the family returned to Heber to live with her mother. Later they moved to Spanish Fork where they now reside.

Merril has served as a teacher in the Elder's and High Priest's Quorums. Lois has taught in Primary and in Sunday School and has served in the Relief Society presidency. Together they filled a stake mission and together they have served in the Provo Temple as ordinance workers. Two of their sons have served missions. They are inordinately proud of their 21 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

DURRANT, Kenneth N. and Lona Turner

Kenneth N. Durrant was born March 28, 1903 to Lorenzo H. Durrant and Sarah Jane Norwood Durrant in East Canyon, Porterville, Morgan County, Utah. Lona Turner Durrant was born October 24, 1903, to George C. Turner and Lucy Robison Turner in Morgan, Utah.

The couple met at a dance, shortly after Kenneth returned from a thirty month mission in Louisiana for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. They were married October 28, 1925 in the Salt Lake Temple. They have always loved dancing and have had many joyous times together.

"We were born of goodly parents who taught us the gospel in our youth. It has been our whole lives—teaching classes and working in various organizations of the church. The Lord has blessed us greatly, not with worldly goods, but with sufficient for our needs, but with opportunity of service."

In 1944 they lived in Hoytsville, Summit County. Kenneth was treasurer of the North Summit School District and worked on the railroad. Three stake presidents, Joseph Beard of the North Summit Stake, Moses Taylor, of the South Summit Stake, and Clay Cummings of the Wasatch Stake, called them on a mission to start one of the first Church Welfare dairy farms in the Church at Hailstone, North of Heber City. They accepted the call and moved to Heber Valley. They had had dairy farming experience at the beginning of their marriage in Snyderville.

"We have had many good experiences in Heber Valley. We lived there thirty years. In 1956 Bishop Harold Smith called us on a mission. We were just fifty-eight years old and had two businesses. We didn't see how we could do it, but we did and went to England for nineteen months. It was a great experience for us, under the leadership of Marion D. Hanks. We also filled a stake mission for two years.

"Our family has grown and is still growing. We have had seven children (five are still living), thirty grandchildren (one died), and sixty-three great-grandchildren, with two more on the way.

"We now live in Provo and have worked in the Provo Temple since it opened in 1972."

DURRANT, Paul and Anna Thacker

In the fall of 1943, my parents Angus and Chloe Thacker moved into a home on 3rd West and 2nd North in Heber City, which put ed in a hat shop in Heber, helping to design hats.

Clara was always playing the piano or organ, or directing the singing for various occasions. She loved to put on false noses and glasses and act silly. During the war years she formed a group called "Kirks Korus". These ladies wrote musicals and plays and loved writing poetry. In the eighth grade Clara wrote the winning story in a contest and received a beautiful book of poetry as an award. She graduated from the eighth grade in 1912.

Clara's three sons were all in the war. Two of them serving in Europe and Dean in the Aleutian Islands. She was proud of them for serving their country and she loved to see the American Flag flying. Clara was registrar of elections in her home for several years and always the U.S. flag was proudly displayed outside her door.

Clara loved to cook and share her goodies and recipes. She was cook at the old Heber Hospital for a few years. She loved to embroider, knit and crochet. She gave many of her friends her beautiful handiwork. Years later when she was unable to do all the things that kept her busy for years, she was sad. But at age 92 she still taught the great-grandchildren many of her cute little jingles, which she loved to sing. Her favorite pastime was to go for a ride in the car and stop for an ice cream treat.

Those who knew Clara Epperson loved and respected her for her happy, friendly personality.

EVANS, Glyndon P. and LaVerne North

Glyndon Evans was born Sept. 5, 1914 to Edward P. and Mae Hansen Evans. He was born in Mountain Home, Duchesne County, Utah and had nine brothers and sisters. The family moved to Park City, Utah when he was 8 years old. He completed his schooling in Park City. When he graduated, he went to work in the Silver King Boarding House, then on to the King Mill, then to the warehouse.

While in Park City, he served in the Park City 2nd Ward in the Sunday School as a teacher and in the presidency. He was also in the YMMIA Presidency. At the time he left Park City, he was ward clerk.

LaVerne North, born to Albert and Mary Steadman North, on Sept. 24, 1915, on the North Ranch in Stringtown, Utah, had 4 brothers and sisters. She was a member of the Charleston Ward and went to church and grade school there, then graduated from Wasatch High School and Wasatch Stake Seminary.

Dancing was the main source of entertainment when they were young, sometimes there were 3 dances a week. They went to them all. LaVerne met Glyndon at one of the dances and they went together for almost a year and were married in the Salt Lake Temple on March 4, 1938. They lived in Park City for 5 years, where two of their four children were born.

The Evans bought the old George Giles home in the Heber 2nd Ward where LaVerne still resides. Glyndon was employed by I. Sander, who was a wholesale distributor for the Standard Company of California. He later bought the distributorship from Mr. Sander for this area, which he had for over 25 years, but had to give up because of health reasons.

While they were in the 2nd Ward, Glyndon served as Scoutmaster for some time. He liked working with the boys and felt scouting was very worthwhile in their lives. He taught Sunday School, was President of the YMMIA and was also secretary in both ward and stake.

LaVerne taught in Sunday School, MIA and was secretary in both MIA and Primary for many years. She helped Glyndon with his bookwork while he was in business. She, then went to work as secretary at the Sewing Factory, until it closed. She is now working at Tri-Mart.

They have 4 children: Norma Wolfe, Janice Connelly, Robert Evans, and Wendy Bushman. They have all been to the temple and are active in their wards. They have 15 grandchildren, three have completed missions for the Church, and 9 great-grandchildren.

Glyndon P. Evans passed away August 25, 1985. He was a High Priest at the time of his death.

FELT, Roger M. and Margaret Taylor

They were married June 25, 1927 in Manti, Utah.

Roger was an agent-telegrapher for the Denver and Rio Grand Railroad. Lived in Utah in Mounds (Carbon County), Payson, Fairview. The family moved to Heber City in 1941 with sons Morris, Sharrol, and daughter, Sandra.

Roger joined American Legion, Lions, Knife and Fork Club, and Chamber of Commerce. Margaret served in the American Legion Auxiliary as secretary, president, then historian, Relief Society visiting teacher and organist, Mutual Improvement Assn. as ward and stake Beehive leader. Morris served as home teacher and Boy Scout leader. He graduated from Wasatch High and BYU. He was two years in U.S. Army in Japan and Korea. He worked for Long Engineering, owned Ford Motor agency, and married Shanna Danner 15 October, 1960. He was active in American Legion, Jr. Chamber of Commerce, VFW. Morris passed away June 1961 in a boating accident on the Colorado River.

Sharrol served as home teacher, Scout leader, C.A.P. and was a graduate of Wasatch High and Seminary. He was three years at BYU and served a mission to the West Central States Mission from 1954 to 1956. He worked at Safeway, Ch. 4 TV transmitter, Radio and TV sales and service, BYU Motion Picture Studio. Some of the films he assisted in were "Cipher in the Snow", "First Vision", "Johnny Lingo" and several others. He attended the area conferences in Japan, Hong Kong, and Korea to assist in filming, in August 1975. He served in the BYU 1st stake as historical clerk and executive secretary for seven years. He also worked at BYU Electronic Media and World Wide Photo in Provo, Ut.

Sandra has served as Beehive and 4H Leader and Sunday School organist. She is a graduate of Wasatch High and LDS Business College. Sandra and Gerald B. Nicol were married October 4, 1957. Gerald was called into military service. They lived in Kentucky, New Jersey and Washington. Gerald is co-owner of E.N.H. Mapping. Sandra has worked for a travel agency, and Utah State Job Service. Both are active in P.T.A. and Cub Scouts. They have two children, Gerald Bradley and Andrea.

Roger retired 1967. He passed away September 11, 1968 after a heart attack, in the Heber Hospital.

FISHER, Donald Gail and LaVernia Virginia Hards

Gail was born March 5, 1891.

Gail and LaVernia were married at Duchesne, Utah on November 2, 1917 in a dentist office on election day.

Their first home was his camp-wagon which was meticulous. He was a very good cook and trail boss. They spent their honeymoon at the George Wedig Ranch in Myton, leaving November 3, 1917 with the drive across the Basin to Heber where they arrived with the cattle and horses in January, 1918.

Gail formed a partnership with his brothers George and Craig at Keetley, known as the Fisher Ranch. Craig later went in the army and came back to Daniel to his own farm. Gail and George remained partners, with Gail managing the ranch while George branched into state politics.

The Ranch was "heaven and hell" to Gail. The long, hard hours and hardships were many, but he always had his pal at his side. There were houses and apartments to rent, plus milk, butter, eggs, and meat to be delivered daily to the Park Utah Mine residents, and to Keetley and Park City. No one went without. If they could pay, they did. Gail always smiled and whistled along his route. He sincerely loved people and the Ranch.

In 1938 he sold his interest to George and moved the family to Heber where he had purchased the William Coleman home (379 South 100 East).

LaVernia Virginia Hards was born December 31, 1898. She was the eldest of eleven children and inherited the responsibility of helping with the large family early in life. It was a challenge, which she never shrank from. She became a wonderful cook and homemaker for her own family, neighbors, and hired hands. She always had room for one more at the table. The years were lean but her thrifty ways made the family feel rich. Her handwork and home canning were works of art. She received many blue ribbons for all of her talent.

The following children were born to this union: Neil (married Beatrice Goodfellow); Bert (married Donna Durrant); Doris (married Charles Gates); Mary Lou (married Kenneth Ryan).

They were staunch Democrats and proud to see their two boys

(Neil and Bert) serve their country in the Navy and the Marine Corps. Gail worked as a carpenter and time keeper to build the Midway Fish Hatchery. He also worked as a postal clerk at Hill Air Force Base.

When World War II erupted, he went to work at the Remington Arms Plant, producing ammunition.

In failing health, he spent the last years of his life at home where LaVernia's loving care kept him alive and comfortable until his death on June 17, 1964. He loved his wife, home, and children above all else. He always taught "an honest days work" and a "pat on the back" are the greatest gifts one can give.

LaVernia was a wonderful mother, true friend, and confidante to her children and grandchildren. She was always there with open arms and an open mind, guiding and teaching with understanding. She died July 16, 1986.

FORD, Earl and Lona Wall

I, like Nephi of old, was born of goodly, ambitious, frugal parents, and noteworthy pioneer grand and great-grandparents.

I was born and raised in Wallsburg, Wasatch County, Utah, the first child of David Madison Wall and Katie Pulley Wall.

My grandfather, John C. Wall, was a son of William Madison who founded and settled Wallsburg.

William Wall was a great help to Brigham Young in the settling of Utah. He helped with the Indian situation, because they knew him and respected him as an honest man; they trusted him.

He was a soldier, peace officer, missionary (two missions to Australia), Bishop, Legislator, peace maker, settler, construction engineer, and family tradition persists, he served as County Attorney and practiced law.

My Grandfather Pulley of the American Fork Pulley's homesteaded land in Duchesne, clearing the land of huge cottonwood trees, just he and his team.

My Great Grandfather, Hugh Moon was a convert to the gospel by Heber C. Kimball. He came with the first boat load of converts to America, and was instructed by Elder Kimball to keep a record of their trip to Nauvoo. An interesting story (March 1963 Era p. 178) also picture of the Moon home in England (Dec. 1979 Ensign p. 36).

I have been married three times, one child by each marriage. First, Lindsay McPhie of Heber, son Eldon David; second, Farrel McLarren of Idaho, daughter — LaWanna McLarren La Fay Lunceford, third; Earl Ford of Wallsburg, son — Larry Dean.

Earl's parents were William Ford and Eliza Gurr, also of pioneer stock, hard working, industrious people. His great grandfather, Martin Ford, was an early settler in Wallsburg. The Fords and Walls owned large farms in Wallsburg.

Earl's mother's people, Enoch Eldredge Gurr, were converts of William Wall's, from Australia.

Earl and I have always been active in Church Work, and since we were endowed in the Salt Lake Temple, we have enjoyed Temple work.

When we had a boy scout and no scout leader, we had scout classes in our home, helping the boys earn their merit badges, and took them to Court of Honor meetings. We had thirteen boys and only one dropped out. We had a station wagon so we could take them and their gear to scout camps until they were explorers. Their bandaloos were a pride to them and us. Earl earned his scout badges right along with the boys.

We have 17 grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren.

I have two sisters, Norma Draper, deceased, and Faye LaRue Provost.

FORTIE, Mark Jeffs and Alice Broadbent

Mark was born March 16, 1915 in Heber, Utah, Wasatch Co., to John Alexander and Emma Jane Jeffs Fortie. Mark has lived all his life within one block of where he was born. Living on the dividing line of the school boundaries, he attended both Central and North schools. He graduated from seminary and the Wasatch High School where he was active in the FFA and 4-H Clubs. He loved his sheep and race horses.

Mark has 10 brothers and sisters. He and his sister Belva are the only ones living at this time.

new challenges...driving to Salt Lake City for lessons, the old outdoor bathroom was replaced with new indoor plumbing. A fire during the depression destroyed almost everything in our home. But all in all life was good. The children rode their sleighs or skied until their pant legs were like two stove pipes. In the summers they played kick the can around the one light pole in the canyon, until a call brought them in. Families were close and helped one another. "Quarantine" signs indicated trouble for a family. Penrod was drafted into the service, and then later fulfilled a mission to Hawaii. Neighbors and friends were important to us during those 27 years.

World War II stopped some of the travel because of gas rationing, but we still served the Lord in Heber 2nd Ward. Richard was called as the Elder President following being the Scoutmaster of Troop 222. He was later called as the Sunday School Superintendent. I enjoyed working for years in the Ward and Stake Primary, and the remaining time in the Stake MIA and Jr. Sunday School. President Cummings gave me a blessing that "I would be able to travel in safety, and no harm or accident would come to me while I served the Lord". In snowstorms, and with bald tires that blessing came to being in my behalf.

We moved to Provo in 1952. How blessed we were to be members of the Heber 2nd Ward and the Wasatch Stake. We still appreciate and love to come back and see our dear friends. Each of you have enriched our lives for eternity.

HANKS, Nymphus Coridon

Written by Anita S. Moulton

Cory was born in 1882 and attended school in Charleston, Utah. His grandfather, Ephraim K. Hanks was a first cousin of Abraham Lincoln's mother, Nancy Hanks. N. C. Murdock was a nephew of General Stacy who fought the English on Bunker Hill, also was a grandfather. Both grandfathers were Utah pioneers.

Cory writes that "my father was a clean, strong out-of-door man. Mother was a thoroughbred, with large, dark eyes and black hair; she knew no limit to her love and kindness."

While working in an ore mine, Cory lost his hands and eyes at the age of twenty-one. After several surgeries, the hospital days ended. At last the time for going home arrived; and with a mountain of difficulties; he could not dress, wash, comb his hair, or brush his teeth, and had to be led wherever he went. All his money was gone. Later he paid the doctors and hospitals with money he had earned himself.

He writes, "The loss of one's money is a little thing, but when we lose that which we cannot reclaim, buy, borrow, or hire, we have a real loss. When we say "Goodbye" to health, happiness, friends, or the last great treasure, our good name, most of these, once lost, we never can regain. So, plod along, and don't whine."

This seemed to be Cory's philosophy — plodding along, uncomplaining! He could be seen walking about the streets of Heber, almost daily, and he recognized familiar voices.

Cory appreciated his nurses at the hospital. He writes, "Later I married one — a graduate nurse — she is a wonderful woman!"

Cory had chosen the hardship of obtaining an education after he had lost both eyes and hands, so that he might have a means of livelihood. His efforts were remarkably successful. He was a poet, author, lecturer through the cultivation of memory. He has crossed the country, unaccompanied, many times, and has travelled to other countries, to lecture.

In his book, "Up From the Hills", he has written, "We are never entirely satisfied in life. There is always something we must have to make us happy, or at least, I have found it so. Contentment and satisfaction came to me completely when I was so near death's door, and the greatest desire of my life is to pass back to that situation. I would not do anything in the world that would send me there abnormally. I hope to go back some day just as God intended me to."

Cory passed away in 1955, and is buried in the Heber Cemetery.

HICKEN, Grant Murdock and Josie Todd

Grant Murdock Hicken was born in Tabiona, Utah on 15 May 1913. His parents were Orson Thomas Hicken and Eunice Sweet Murdock. He was one of thirteen children, having seven brothers and five sisters.

He went to elementary school in Tabiona, and then moved to Heber City to live with his sister and finish his education.

Grant enlisted in the navy on May 17, 1942, and spent over three years in the South Pacific as Chief Petty Officer in charge of heavy equipment during World War II and received an honorable discharge on November 19, 1945. He was in the Navy Sea Bees and spent much of the time building airport runways, roads, etc.

Before Grant went in the Navy, he worked for W. W. Clyde and Company, Whiting & Haywood Construction Co, the city, and with Brent Hill, building roads.

Grant married Josie Todd on June 6, 1947 in Evanston, Wyoming, then later their marriage was solemnized in the Provo L.D.S. Temple.

Grant loved camping, fishing, and hunting, and enjoyed the senior citizen center after his retirement. He was proud of his vegetable garden, and loved sharing vegetables with his neighbors. He loved his children and grandchildren and enjoyed having them come to visit and help.

Grant Murdock Hicken died of a heart attack at home on the evening of June 3, 1983. His funeral was in the Heber First Ward Chapel, and he was buried in the Heber City Cemetery.

Josie Todd was born in Heber City, Utah on Sunday, 27 February 1916, in the sandstone house built by her grandfather, Thomas Todd, in 1879.

Her parents were David Alexander Todd and Josephine Marie Moulton. She was the only daughter born to them, and had four older brothers; Dean, Blain, Roy, and Ray.

Josie went to the North Elementary School, Wasatch High School where she graduated in 1934. Then spent two years at Brigham Young University during the depression. She came home for the summer and was fortunate to get a job working for the Wasatch County Agricultural Agent as his secretary. When fall came she continued to work instead of going back to school. At that time $75.00 a month was a very good salary. Later she took a leave of absence and went to L.D.S. Business college in Salt Lake, then came back again to the county agent's office. During World War II, she worked at the Remington Small Arms Plant in Salt Lake City and at a radar plant in San Francisco as a secretary. Then after the war she was employed at the Newhouse Hotel as secretary to the owner.

After Grant and Josie were married they bought a home in the Heber Second Ward and lived there with their children until 1962, when they moved to Josie's old family home in the Heber First Ward to live with her mother who was no longer able to live alone and take care of herself.

After their children were raised, Josie went back to work as a teacher aide in the North Elementary School and Wasatch High School. Then as secretary to three different school superintendents, Dr. Ferrin Van Wagoner, Bert Gividen, and Douglas L. Merkley.

Josie has always been active in Church activities in both the Wasatch and East Heber Stakes also in both First and Second Ward as a teacher, dance director, secretary, counselor, librarian and Stake President of Y.W.M.I.A. She has also been active in Shakespearean Literary Club, Daughters of the Utah Pioneers and Parent Teacher Association.

Their 3 children are Sharon, Marie, and Grant. They have 7 grandchildren, all living in Salt Lake City, Utah.

HICKEN, Henry Rufus "Bood" and Hazel Bell Smith

By Donna Dayton

Henry Rufus "Bood" Hicken: son of Thomas Hicken and Sarah Jane McMillan.

Hazel Bell Smith Hicken: daughter of John L. Bell and Nettie Johnson Bell. They were married September 29, 1938.

Bood was a barber by trade and gained many friends through it. He barbered with his brother Warren Hicken, then they went to San Diego and he worked with his brother-in-law, Ellis Murdock, in his shop. They took up golf with Fern and Ellis and really enjoyed the game. During World War II, barber business was poor as many men were in the military, so Bood started to paint. He did this until Ellis and Fern came back to Utah and he bought out Ellis's barber shop. They stayed there for about two years and then they moved back to Utah buying a home in Provo. There he set up barbering again. This is where Earl Dayton did his apprenticing.

At their home in Provo, Hazel had her stroke which left her arm rather impaired and it was hard for her to do a lot of the things she had been accustomed to doing. Bood then became very adapt in keeping house and cleaning. I remember at one time I remarked

Another example of Bill Horner's love and concern for the Heber Valley was his special project of decorating the 30-foot high Christmas tree that stood in the middle of Heber's Main Street. He colored his own lights, filled with these newly painted lights set out to dry.

Esther was a very devoted Relief Society sister quilting on many, many quilts.

This couple left a posterity of 5 children: Elva, Avis, Farris, Vonda, and Glade. They have 18 grandchildren, 54 great-grandchildren, and 37 great-great-grandchildren. The grand total is a posterity of 119, and from this group there were 17 missionaries, 7 who were Bishops or in bishoprics, and one who is presently Stake President of the Heber Stake.

HORROCKS, Glen and Leah Giles

Glen and Leah Horrocks were married May 29, 1933 in Heber City, Utah. Later they were sealed in the Salt Lake Temple. Glen's parents are Thomas and Sarah Mair Horrocks. Leah's parents are Henry A. and Flossie Lake Giles.

Our family moved into the Heber Second Ward in 1939. The family consisted of Glen, Leah, and two children, Glenna and Tom.

Glenna and Tom both attended Wasatch High School and Utah State University. Tom filled a mission to Western Canada. Both Tom and Glenna left the ward after they were married and both returned with their families for a short time. Tom now lives in Midway and Glenna in Heber.

Our early English ancestors all lived in this ward. There are seven generations. Thomas and Mariah Kirkham Giles, William M. and Ann Murdock Giles, Henry A. Giles, Leah Giles Horrocks, Glenna Horrocks Azlin, and Kathy Azlin Moulton and her children.

Glen worked in the Park City mines, Utah State Road in Strawberry valley, Heber City Roads, and retired from Heber Light and Power, Snake Creek Station.

Glen was ordained a High Priest, and served as Second Counselor in the High Priest Quorum. He was a home teacher and did temple work when his health permitted.

Leah served as a secretary to five ward Relief Society Presidents.

They were Ethel Watson, Luella Clyde, Retta Murdock, Jennie Broadbent, and Ruby Cummings. She served as first counselor to Alice Seiter in the Ward Relief Society. Also as a Relief Society visiting teacher, a primary teacher, and secretary in M.I.A. Then as secretary to Violet Olpin on the Stake Relief Society Board.

After living in the ward twenty years we moved to the upper Snake Creek Power Station in 1960. We attended Midway Second Ward and lived there for seventeen years. In 1977 we moved back to 114 South 200 West our Heber home which we have owned for forty-six years. We were once again members of the Second Ward until it was divided in March 1979 and we were sent to the Heber Fourth Ward.

In 1979 Glen was stricken with bladder cancer. The doctors and the pathologist said it was a miracle he recovered. We feel it was a miracle too, but through the power of the Priesthood, faith and prayers of family, loved ones and ward members he did recover.

In 1983 Leah went back to adult night school. She took classes in History and English and received her high school diploma. This same year on May 29, 1983, Glen and Leah celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. At this time they had been blessed with nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

We are grateful to our Father in Heaven for the numerous blessings we have received throughout our lives. Also to our pioneer ancestors who left their homes in Scotland and England to come to this valley for the gospel. They suffered many hardships, but never lost their faith.

HOWARTH, RAY

Ray was born April 23, 1915 in Heber City, Utah. His parents were Wilford Woodruff and Ellen Maria (Mariah) Giles. He was born in the Heber Third Ward. Ray had an older brother, Giles and two younger sisters, Velma and Zella.

The family moved from the Third to the Heber Second Ward where Ray lived the remainder of his life.

Ray attended the Heber North Elementary School, the Wasatch Jr. High and the Wasatch High School. He graduated from the L.D.S. Seminary. He wasn't able to attend that services as he was Rachel, when he came into Dr. Montgomery's office for dental work. They were married September 7, 1938 in Heber City. The marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple in 1954. Raymond was converted and baptized into the church by Bishop Fred Carlile. After his conversion, he served in many church positions. Raymond was very active in the Democratic party and served as Mayor of Heber City for twenty years and as County Commissioner for four years.

Raymond was a certified public accountant, and taught school. He became Principal of the Wasatch Junior High and the Assistant Superintendent to Doug Merkley in the Wasatch School District.

Raymond had some very trying illnesses in his life. He was in a coma for three months after his appendix had ruptured. After coming out of the coma, he had to learn to eat, walk, and other things all over again. Raymond died on April 19, 1986 after a courageous battle with diabetes. He had lost one leg five years earlier, and then had the other amputated before his death.

Raymond was a very patient man and had a great love for his family and grandchildren. Raymond accomplished much in his life and had the will-power and strength to stand strong and faithful with the adversities in his life.

JOHNSON, Lee and Lavina Harper

The Second Ward has been our family's home church since it was originally organized and until portions of it were reorganized to form the Fourth and Eighth Wards. Members of the Johnson family still drive by that little red brick building with the wonderful stained-glass window and feel a pang of nostalgia when remembering the good times and the friendship there.

Lee's grandparents came from Sweden and settled in Heber Valley. They built their pioneer home that still stands on 192 South 3rd West, a part of the "old Second Ward." His parents were Ole and Elizabeth Johnson. Lee was born in Park City, Utah. He worked at the Park City and the New Park mines for many years. Then from 1949 until 1965, he owned a service station which stood on the corner where the new Seven Eleven convenience store stands now. Lee served in the army during World War II and later was Commander of the American Legion for several years. He loved his country, his family, and his church.

Lavina was born in Big Cottonwood, Utah (now Holladay). Her parents were Chester and Amanda Herbst Harper. When she was three years old, the family moved to Big Lost River, Idaho. There she spent her early years. After graduation from high school, Lavina attended college at the University of Idaho, Southern Branch at Pocatello, Idaho, and at Brigham Young University. Lavina taught school in Idaho and in the elementary grades in Heber, and Kamas after marrying Lee and moving to Utah. Teaching young children was one of the activities she loved most.

Lee and Lavina were married October 27, 1930. They moved to Heber in November 1930 just in time to face the great depression. At that time they lived in the First Ward. There, both James and Janice were born. Marian was born in the Third Ward.

The Johnson family moved to the Second Ward December, 1941, two days before the bombing of Pearl Harbor. This home has been the family home for forty-six years. Thus, our happiest and most successful years were spent in the Heber Second Ward. We will always be grateful for the fine things our family received in this neighborhood. This is where our children learned the values of goodness and kindness from the friends in the ward. These experiences have been the basis to assure each of us happy and successful lives.

Now James and his wife Anna live in Denver Colorado. They have three children: Greg, Lorie, and Michael. James is a private consultant in the mining industry.

Janice is married to Glen Carlile, a fellow "Second Warder". They have five children and live in Fremont, California. Janice works in the church and has many, many other interests. Glen is a secondary teacher of math and a tax consultant.

Marian lives in Salt Lake City with her son, Matthew, and teaches secondary English at Taylorsville High School.

No matter where the Johnson family lives, the Heber Second Ward will be home to them.

JONES, Lester and LaVon Howe

Lester and LaVon Jones moved into the Heber Second Ward January 1947, with three children — Marvin, Marion, and Robert. That September Beth was born, followed by Karen in October 1953.

Lester served in the Elders presidency and Sunday School superintendency. LaVon was asked to be a Sunday School teacher and visiting teacher.

After serving in the presidency of the Seventies, he was advanced to High Priest, and served as a counselor and secretary at different times. He was also on the finance committee when the new ward and stake center was built.

LaVon acted as secretary to Bernice Simpson in YWMIA. Then she became president when Bernice Simpson was released under Bishop Watson. When the ward was divided, forming the Fifth Ward, Bernice Simpson was the first Relief Society President and LaVon became her secretary. Later, LaVon became the Relief Society President under Bishop Vernon Price.

The Relief Society at that time was very busy with special activities to raise funds for the new building. They served banquets for different clubs and organizations and managed eating booths during fair time.

Marvin was one of the first missionaries to be called on a mission from the new Fifth Ward. He served in California under President Henry D. Taylor.

Marion, Beth and Karen have been music accompanists in Junior Sunday School, and served in many other positions.

Marion married Harry Collard in the Salt Lake Temple. Marvin married Janette Rex in the Logan Temple. Karen and Steve Ridge were married in the Provo Temple. In 1985 Robert received his endowments in the Provo Temple. Beth and Douglas Murphy were married in the Provo Temple and their wedding reception was the first held in the new stake center.

Lester and Robert (Bob) spent many hours with their machinery, raking hay, picking rock, and hauling hay from the ward welfare farm to the stake dairy farm.

In 1986 Lester and LaVon served a mission in Ohio. On their return Lester was called to serve in the High Priest presidency and LaVon as teacher over visiting teaching.

They have sixteen grandchildren.

Lester was born February 16, 1914, son of Thomas H. Jones and Agnes Swain. LaVon's parents were Leonard J. Howe and Theadora (Dora) Taylor. She was born June 21, 1914.

JORDAN, John William and DeEsta Bond

My husband, John William Jordan, was born February 20, 1900, to George Borland and Emma Davis Jordan on the Jordan Ranch. This ranch has been in the Jordan family for five generations.

The first thing I remember about the Heber Second Ward was that I got to play in the sand pile on the construction site when the Second Ward building was being constructed on First West and Center Street. My mother was working in the Alice Jones Millinery Shop a few doors west of the old Heber Bank Building, and she would take me with her to work. My uncle, John Bond, had the contract to build this building. I didn't think then that some day I would belong to this ward.

I was born 29 August, 1907, to Alfred Thomas and Lela Clift Bond. After Bill and I were married, on 23 May, 1925, we lived on the Jordan Ranch which was then part of the Heber Second Ward. Our three children, Clift, Allen, and Phyllis were all born there. Our marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple.

The Jordan Ranch was homesteaded by John Jordan, my husband's grandfather who was one of the first seven men to come into Heber Valley. He built a log house and dug a well. His wife and daughter died of typhoid fever from drinking water from this well. John Jordan was born in England and was a vital part of the early history of the Church. He took part in the Echo Canyon trouble, was a veteran of the Walker and Black Hawk Wars, and a counselor to John M. Murdock in the stake presidency. He was also a High Priest group leader.

My husband's father, George Borland Jordan, who was born February 14, 1872, and his wife Emma were married by Johnny Duke on October 12, 1896. Three years later, they made the two-day trip to Salt Lake to be sealed in the Salt Lake Temple on October 12, 1899. Their son Ervin was seventeen months old and Emma was five months pregnant with her son, John William, my husband.

George B. Jordan ran the ranch where he raised cattle and hay and worked in the Drain Tunnel, later known as Park Utah Mine. When Bill and Erv were old enough to ride a horse, they would visit the sheep camps in the nearby hills and the herders would give them their dogie lambs which they would take home and raise on bottles of cows' milk. This fostered a love of sheep and when the boys grew older persuaded their father to sell the cattle and buy sheep. The two of them eventually inherited the ranch.

When our son, Clift, married Jane Johnson, they moved onto the ranch and lived in the little house until their three children were born. They then built a new home a mile south of the old place. Now, their son, Kenneth, and his wife, Gaynell, and their two girls live in the house that Clift and Jane built. They are the fifth generation Jordans to live on the ranch.

After Bill's brother, Erv, died, Bill bought his half of the Jordan Ranch, and has now turned it over to Clift. One day, Clift and Ken were cleaning the yard and burning the trash when a spark blew into a sawdust lined shed and onto the house that Erv and Opal used to live in before they moved to Heber. The house was totally destroyed before the fire engine from Heber got there. We have seen many changes on the ranch over the past sixty years.

Both Bill and I have loved the gospel through the years. I served as president both in the Primary and in the Relief Society, and I also served in the presidency of the Stake Relief Society for seven years, four of them as president. Bill showed his love with generous contributions.

KINSEY, Floyd and Viola Giles

James Floyd Kinsey was born in Park City, Utah on Aug. 1, 1902. The family moved to Midway and when he was just 9 years old, his father died suddenly, leaving a family of four small boys. Since Floyd was the oldest, he carried a great deal of responsibility with the family and learned the necessity of hard work while he was young. He attended grade school in Midway and was a very good student. Floyd married Viola Giles when he was twenty-nine.

After a courtship of two years, the two eloped and were married in Nephi — but one year later they were married and sealed in the Salt Lake Temple. Their marriage was beautiful for both of them. They soon purchased a home in the Second Ward and lived there about eight years at which time they moved into the Giles home to care for Viola's mother. Floyd worked for the Utah State Road for 35 years and was a very capable patrol operator. He worked these years in the Strawberry and Heber valley. He served in the Church as a ward clerk and a councilor to Bishop Leonard Giles. He was then sustained as stake clerk to President Cummings. These were special fulfilling years in his life. When a very serious illness overtook Floyd, his health was restored to him after a special family fast and a blessing from Pres. Cummings. This allowed him the health he needed to care for his sweetheart, Viola during her years of illness. Floyd was a very patient and kind man to her.

He loved to garden and his gardens were "nearly perfect" and he was able to raise one until he was eightyone years old. His motto was to work hard today so you will always be ready for tomorrow. Floyd died at the age of 82 on Mar. 1, 1984.

Viola Giles was born on Sept. 5, 1909 to William and Rachel Ann Giles. She was born in the family home and was a Second Ward member her entire life. She was afflicted with fever while a young girl which affected her heart, and she carried that condition throughout her life. But this did not keep her from having many accomplishments. She loved the outdoors and would help take care of the cows, walking them to the pasture each morning, rake the hay, and help her dad herd sheep in Lake Creek and Wolf Creek areas.

When she entered and attended school, it was found she possessed many talents. She was outstanding, especially in debate, and dramatics, and algebra. She won honors for herself and the school in debate. She loved sports and won trophies in tennis and softball.

Viola had a strong testimony of the gospel and taught many principles with her life. She served as Primary President, Counselor, teacher of the Trekker and Seagull classes and Counselor in the Y.W.M.I.A. She also served on Primary Stake Board.

She was a true Democrat and loved politics and good government. She acted for many years as a Democratic Chairman. Her talents as a leader proved very good and she received acknowledgements for her good work. She also served on the Wasatch Welfare Board.

Floyd and Viola had two daughters. Gaye, who married Bert Webster, and Joan, who married Larry Duke.

Viola passed away on December 15, 1971.

LEATHAM, Rex Alvin and Lizzie Ann Butler

Rex Alvin Leatham was the first child of eleven children. Through childhood he was a good example to them and watched over them. He then attended Ricks College.

Lizzie Ann Butler Leatham was the sixth child out of eleven children. She was raised on a farm and shared in the chores, milking cows, taking care of chickens, and in the field thinning beets.

Rex Alvin Leatham and Lizzie Ann Butler were married October 8, 1928 in the Salt Lake Temple. They made their home in Rexburg, near their place of birth, for 7 months. In May of 1929, they moved to Park City to work in the mines. It was there that they had all 5 children; Lyle, Rex, Ann, May, and Margaret.

In April of 1949, the Leatham family moved to Center Creek where they spent 9 years. Then in 1958, they moved to the Heber 2nd Ward.

Lizzie worked as a cook in Heber for 20 years. They both retired in 1971. Rex served in the High Priest quorum. During that time Rex and Lizzie enjoyed taking groups down to the temple in their motor home. Lizzie served as the work director in the Relief Society.

Rex enjoyed working in his wood shop and Lizzie enjoyed doing handwork. Together they enjoyed working in the garden, camping, fishing, taking short trips and doing things for others.

Rex passed away April 3, 1987, leaving memories of much service to the Heber 2nd Ward.

Lyle and Elaine Leatham live in Torrence, Calif. They have two boys and two girls, all married. Lyle is retired from General Electric.

Rex and Carol Leatham live in Midvale, Utah. They have one boy and two girls with only one girl left at home. Rex worked for Royal American Food Corp.

Ann and Bill Mountford live in Burnt Ranch, California where they own and run a Dude Ranch. They have one boy married and one girl.

May and Dwayne Green live in Taylorsville, Utah. They have one girl married and one girl at home. May works at Pioneer Valley Hospital as a surgical nurse.

Margaret and Richard McAnulty just moved to Prescott, Arizona from Saratoga, Wyo. She has one boy and four girls. Margaret works at the Prescott City Police Department as Dispatcher.

Rex and Lizzie have at this time, 16 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

LEE, Fay and Jennie Golda Locks

Fay Lee was born December 21, 1894, at Elkhorn (Keetley) Utah, the sixth child of Orson Henry and Rachel Ann Jones Lee. He was baptized by his father, in the Provo River. He attended schools in Wasatch County. Fay married Jennie Golda Locks on July 19, 1917 in the Salt Lake Temple. A few months later, he was inducted into World War I and was sent to Camp Lewis, Washington, and then to New York, and on to France. He served with the Sixteenth Infantry of the First Division. Fay was wounded by a piece of shrapnel in his back and spent time recuperating in a hospital in Nice, France. Upon his return to Heber, Fay and his brothers, Roe and Dell went into the sheep business, nine miles north of Heber, later known as Lee's Ranch. Fay and his family lived on this property, until the house was torn down in 1959, to make room for the new highway. He had lived in that home for approximately sixty years. The couple then moved to Salt Lake City and eventually to Farmington, New Mexico, to be close to members of his family. Fay and Golda had five children: June, married to Joseph A. Lindsay, a rancher and real estate man, Mesa, Arizona; Enid, who married Austin R. Holmes, a contractor and businessman, Jackson, Wyoming; Jay Warren, a Mortician, married Joanne Walton, Farmington, New Mexico; and Dixie who was Executive Secretary of the Utah Dairy Council, married Spencer

Oviatt, Contractor, also of Farmington, New Mexico; and Orson Hal who died at age thirteen of ruptured appendix. Fay and Golda have seventeen grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren. Fay was a devoted family man, successful business man and sheep rancher who was always sincere and honest with people he met. He was a home teacher and life time member of the Church which he always supported. He died June 19, 1978 in Farmington, New Mexico, and was buried in the Heber Cemetery.

Jennie Golda Locks Lee was born June 9, 1899 in Vernal, Utah, the oldest of seven children who were born to James Warren and Nancy Elizabeth Golding Locks. She attended schools in Vernal. On July 19, 1917, she married Fay Lee in the Salt Lake Temple. Golda was an active member of the church, serving as a Primary teacher for twenty-five years in the Heber Second Ward. Later, she was a member of the Stake Primary Board and a visiting teacher. She was a member of the Daughters of the Pioneers. Golda, a loving and kind person, was especially capable of taking care of sick people. At one time, after moving to Salt Lake, she received a special tribute through the Relief Society for helping retarded children in her neighborhood. She died May 22, 1984, in Farmington, New Mexico, and was buried in the Heber City Cemetery.

LEE, Max L. and Nelda Simmons

Max L. Lee was born to Orson Monroe Lee and Iona LaVina Lewis Lee at Elkhorn, Wasatch County, Utah, May 28, 1920. Nelda Simmons Lee was born to Heber J. Simmons and Violet B. Daybell Simmons June 4, 1922 at Charleston, Wasatch County, Utah. Max and Nelda were married in the Salt Lake Temple June 25, 1941.

They were blessed with four boys; Jerry, who married Marsha Lefler from Kamas, Utah; Dennis who married Dorothy Young from Austin, Nevada; Rich who married Deborah Lu Andes from Phoenix, Arizona; and Brian who married Kym Christensen from Center Creek, Wasatch County.

Their first home was the old Jordon home in the Heber 2nd Ward. After their first child, Jerry, was born, Max went to war and served on the front lines in Italy for two years. While he was gone, Nelda worked at the old J.C. Penny store, on Main street.

A short time after Max returned from the war, they moved to the old Lindsey home in the Third Ward.

They have both been active members in the Church all of their lives and have held many assignments in the ward and Stake. In January 1964, they served a mission for the Church of Jesus Christ, in Danville, Kentucky.

Max worked in the mines of Park Utah and as a carpenter. Then later, worked for the Post Office as a Rural Carrier also as an Insurance Salesman.

LEE, Monroe and Iona LaVina Lewis

Orson Monroe Lee, the son of Orson Henry Lee and Rachel Ann Jones was born August 22, 1891 at Elkhorn, Wasatch County, Utah.

Iona LaVina Lewis Lee, the daughter of Horace George Lewis and Annie Louisa McMullin was born August 9, 1898. Monroe and Iona were married in the Salt Lake City Temple, June 5, 1917.

They were blessed with three children, two boys and one daughter. Max, who was born May 28, 1920; Kenneth, born September 30, 1925 and Barbara, born November 6, 1927. Barbara died of whooping cough, December 12, 1928.

Max married Nelda Simmons and Kenneth married Shirley Duke. Max and Kenneth both served in World War II. Max served in Italy and Kenneth in Europe.

Monroe and Iona lived on the Ranch, near Keetley most of their lives. Monroe worked in the mines at Park City, Utah, a number of years before he was married, then he went into business with his brother Fay and was a successful stockman. They owned a large shepherd and 4,000 acres of land in the mountains above and around the Ranch. Later, because of his health he sold out to his brother Fay and moved to Heber City, Utah, into an apartment building built by his sons. At this time he went into the insurance business and did this until the time of his death.

Monroe was a champion wrestler starting in high school, then at the Academy at Provo, continuing this while serving in World War I in Germany. He also served as Commander for the Lockhart Post of the American Legion, for sometime after he came home from the war.

[illegible][illegible]

Monroe received a call to go on a mission and was preparing for this at the Academy, B.Y.U., when he was called to serve his county in World War I. While Monroe was serving overseas, he received one of the highest awards that France gives for bravery, "The French Croix de Grerre". He saved the life of a Lieutenant, as he was delivering an urgent message under fire to the front lines. He was overseas for 24 months and served in the army of occupation in Germany, for sometime after the war was over.

Monroe loved the out-of doors and loved to hunt with his sons. He loved his family and no sacrifice was too great for them.

Iona worked at the Palace Drugstore, while Monroe was in the service. She later worked at Seiter's Bakery, for quite a few years. Iona was always the same, sociable with everyone, thoughtful and kind, and made many friends. She had a strong testimony of the gospel and served in many capacities in the Ward and Stake. She was a wonderful teacher, and served 17 years in the Primary, for which she received a special Service Pin.

Iona liked to cook, and many of her friends and family were glad recipients of this talent. When there was a birthday, everyone gathered at Iona's to enjoy her delicious food. She worked hard all her life in service of others.

Iona and Monroe died, just twelve hours apart. Monroe on January 30, 1959 and Iona January 29, 1959. The family held joint funerals for them, in the Heber First-Sixth Ward Chapel February 2, 1959.

LINDSAY, Bert M. and Frances LeOra Ohlwiler

Bert and LeOra made their home at 142 West 100 South after their marriage in 1930 until they moved from the ward in 1946. Bert was born to Andrew A. and Martha A. Sulser Lindsay on November 7, 1901, in Park City, Utah. As a youth he lived in Park City and attended school there. While in high school he was active in student government. He went to work in the mines before graduating as his family needed financial help. His parents and family later moved to Heber City.

LeOra was born June 16, 1907, to John F. and Rhoda E. Hicken Ohlwiler in Heber City, Utah. She graduated from Wasatch

High in 1925 where she was valedictorian of her class. She attended BYU for one year and then returned to Heber City. She put her business training to use when she went to work in the office of J.C. Penney. The next few years were full of fun, free of worry and cares. She dated a boy who had a gorgeous car and who later became her husband.

Bert and LeOra were married in Salt Lake City, Utah on June 16, 1930. Their marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. Five years after their marriage, Stanley was born and nine years later another son, Richard was born. Many fond memories occurred during the family's stay in the Second Ward. They were blessed with wonderful neighbors: Rachel Giles, Minnie Cluff, Henry and Maybell Moulton, Clayton and Dona Montgomery and many more. Anyone that lived west of Main Street on First South, can't go without mentioning the familiar sight of Cory Hanks. What an inspiration he was to all that knew him! He was blind, both hands were missing, and he lived alone.

After working in the mines, Bert served as deputy sheriff to Charles McAfee, worked at the Post Office as a postman on a rural route (outskirts of Heber City), served as a city marshal, and then served as administrator at the Heber Hospital (Drs. T.A. Dannenberg, Karl O. Nielson, and others) until his retirement. He served as chairman of the Wasatch County Welfare Board and was a charter member of the Rotary Club. He served many years on Sunday School boards and was active in genealogy work.

LeOra remained in the home and raised her family until it came time for missions and schooling. She worked many years as a clerk for the Selective Service. She also worked as a parttime secretary for an attorney. LeOra loved flowers and pretty lawns and spent many hours gardening and working outside. She was a strong supporter of the missionary program and contributed many hours and financial support to its cause. Bert died on June 4, 1971, and LeOra passed away on January 4, 1986.

LINDSAY, Joseph A. and June Lee

Joseph A. Lindsay was born August 6, 1918 in Heber City, Utah, the youngest of eleven children born to William Howie and Margaret Elinor Thomas Lindsay. Joe graduated from Wasatch High School in 1938 and attended Utah State University in Logan for three years. In April 1940, he married June Lee of Heber City and one year later they went through the Salt Lake Temple. Joe spent three and one-half years in the army during World War Two serving with the 65 Division in Europe. Upon his return to Utah the couple bought a farm at Keetley, Utah and went into the dairy business. This operation was sold seventeen years later and with his family he moved to Heber City and went into the real estate business. In 1969, Joe went to work in Salt Lake as an appraiser for the Utah State Tax Commission. In 1972, he moved his family to Bountiful, Utah to be closer to his work and to take care of apartment houses he had bought in Salt Lake and Bountiful. In 1976, Joe bought a twelve thousand acre ranch in Northern Arizona and two years later the family built a home in Springerville, Az. This home was sold and they bought a home in Mesa, Az. where they now reside. They still have the ranch which they lease out. Joe is now a High Priest in the church and a home teacher. The couple have one son, Scott W. Lindsay. Scott went to Wasatch Schools in Heber until he was thirteen. He is an Eagle Scout. After moving to Bountiful he graduated from Viewmont High School where he was a member of the National Honor Society. He then served a two year mission in Nogoya, Japan. Scott attended BYU and in May 1985 graduated from Arizona State University. He is now affiliated with Appraisal Sciences of Phoenix. Scott is married to the former Gayle Ann Freeman of Mesa. Gayle attended BYU and served a mission in Tallahassee, Florida.

June Lee Lindsay was born June 23, 1920 at Keetley, Utah the oldest child of Fay and Golda Locks Lee. June has two sisters, Enid Lee Holmes of Jackson, Wy.; Dixie Lee Oviatt and one brother Jay Warren Lee, both of Farmington, N.M. June was raised on Lee's Ranch nine miles north of Heber City where her father and his brother Roe were in the sheep business. Many happy memories come from growing up with cousins Max and Ken Lee on the ranch. June went to school at Keetley until the fifth grade and then rode the bus into Heber, graduating from Wasatch High School and Seminary in 1938. June spent the next two years in nurses training in Salt Lake. While there she represented the hospital as a contestant in the Miss Utah Contest. In 1940 she married Joseph A. Lindsay. In 1972 June, Joe and son Scott moved to Bountiful from Heber City and she went to work as a secretary in the Auditing Division of the State Tax Commission. June has been a primary teacher and a visiting teacher for the Church.

LYON, Archibald Thomas and Mabel Crook

Archibald Thomas Lyon was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, on January 14, 1892. He was the fifth child in a family of eleven. Mabel Crook Lyon was born in Heber City, Utah, on September 9, 1889. She was the eldest girl and the second child in a family of six. Both were grandchildren of early pioneers to Utah. Archie was reared on a farm in Morgan, Utah and Mabel was reared on her father's farm in Heber, Utah.

Mabel graduated from the L.D.S. Hospital School of Nursing and while working there met a young missionary who had returned to Utah to have an appendectomy. Mabel took care of him during his recovery and a friendship began to develop. Archie returned to complete his mission in Colorado and they kept in touch through letters. After being released from his mission Archie returned to Salt Lake City to find and court Mabel. They were married in the Salt Lake Temple on September 12, 1923. Officiating at the marriage ceremony was Joseph F. Smith.

After working for Utah Copper for three years they moved to Heber about 1927. In 1930 they purchased the home at 188 West 300 North which was built by Mabel's grandfather in the 1870's. The home was purchased for $2,500 which sounds like a small sum, but those were depression years and that was a lot of money.

Life was hard during the depression years and it was a struggle to make the payments on their home and feed their family. Archie worked in the hay for his neighbors in order to earn a little extra income. He had a reputation for building a good hay stack. They also raised a beautiful garden and sold the produce to neighbors. They raised pigs, chickens, and milk cows, selling eggs and milk. Mabel was a fastidious homemaker. Her children were taught cleanliness, as she believed "Cleanliness was next to Godliness." That is how her home, children and yard were kept. You would never see things out of place in her home. Archie was just as tidy about the yard area

Mabel was a fun loving person who enjoyed her children, grandchildren and neighbors. She was always willing to help others. She served in many auxiliaries in the Church as secretary or teacher. She entertained in many Road Shows with her readings.

Archie underwent a total hip surgery in March 1974 and as he was recovering he had a heart attack, then took pneumonia. He passed away on May 3, 1974, in the Heber Valley Hospital.

Mabel suffered a stroke in November 1975, which completely paralyzed her left side. She passed away on February 29, 1976. Both Archie and Mabel are buried in the Heber City Cemetery.

Their Children were William J. Lyon and Jay Thomas Lyon. William J. married Lyle Pettit. After Jay Thomas finished school in Heber, he served in the navy, came home, married and found employment in the Salt Lake area.

LYON, Jay Thomas and Lyle Pettit

Jay Thomas Lyon, born January 6, 1925 to Archibald Thomas and Mabel Crook Lyon. My wife Lyle Pettit was born May 21, 1929 to Archibald Newel and Genevieve Johnson Pettit.

In July of 1942, I started Aircraft Electrical training at the Vocational Center in Salt Lake City prior to going to work at Hill Field. I worked at Hill Field during World War II having been rejected from the military service because of a heart murmur.

In September 1945, I started going to the University of Utah and working part time at Walgreen Drug Company. Early in 1947 I met Lyle Pettit. She was working in the office at Walgreens. We became engaged on Christmas Day 1947, and were married on June 28, 1948, in the Salt Lake Temple by D.A. Broadbent, my former Wasatch Stake President.

In December 1949, we moved to Heber to make our home. I found employment with the Heber Light and Power Company working at the power plant north of town. Spare time at the plant was spent studying radio and T.V. repair which I did on the side. Some fellows, who lived in Heber and worked for Channel 4 (KCPX) at the transmitter in the Oquirrh Mountains, talked me into getting a First Class Commercial license and going to work for Channel

4. I started there in August 1961, and worked there for six years.

In June of 1976, I went to work at Brigham Young University in the Electronic Media Maintenance Department. Having the weekly devotionals piped into the shop was a most memorable and inspirational experience.

Since moving to Orem I have served as ward and welfare clerks. I am now working at Utah Valley Hospital with their new telephone system. I enjoy working at the hospital more than any job I have held because of the conscientious and dedicated people, and because it is a service oriented institution.

My wife, Lyle, has served in most of the church organizations as teacher, counselor, as president in MIA and in Primary, Junior Sunday School coordinator and at the present time is serving as counselor in the Primary. Lyle has always enjoyed working with young children.

Each of our five children are BYU graduates and have completed missions for the church: Richard to Japan, Ralph Wayne to Finland, Charles Ray to Bolivia, Jayne Marie to Arkansas, and Steven Kent to Argentina. We have fourteen beautiful grandchildren who are a joy in our lives.

MAIR, Andrew and Mary Ann Thompson

Andrew Mair was born 18 February 1856 at Gaswater, Ayrshire, Scotland. He was the eighth child of a family of nine children.

In the year of 1866 when Andrew was ten years old, he, with his mother, sister Mary and brother Alexander, left Scotland to come to America for the sake of the gospel of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. His mother had joined the church in 1850 but his father would not join. She had a brother, patriarch, John M. Murdoch who had joined the church and was living in Heber City, Utah. So this is where the Mair family settled.

On 24th July 1879, Andrew married Mary Ann Thompson in Heber City. They were later sealed in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City, Utah. Mary Ann was born 6 October 1863 at Provo, Utah. She was the daughter of William Thompson and Sarah Fenn Thompson. She had fourteen brothers and sisters.

Andrew and Mary Ann had a very happy life together and endured many of the hardships the pioneers of the Valley had in those early days. They built themselves a home at 4th West and 1st South and lived in Heber West Ward and Heber 2nd Ward all their married life.

Andrew was a village blacksmith. He prepared the iron horseshoes to fit the horses' hooves and then put the shoes on the horses' feet. He made iron tires for the wagons, repaired farm machinery, and one of the outstanding works he did was to make the steel beams and braces that are in the chapel of the former Second Ward meetinghouse which was built in 1915 and is located on the corner of 100 West Center Street in Heber City, Utah.

His hobbies were fishing, playing checkers, and tossing horse shoes. He held the office of High Priest at the time of his death on 6 July 1924.

Mary Ann was a nurse. She helped many mothers when they had their babies. She also helped with sickness and prepared and dressed bodies of friends and relatives for burial. This was at the time the preparation was done in the home and not at a mortuary.

Mary Ann's hobbies were being a loving wife and mother and homemaker. In later years she enjoyed attending endowment sessions at the Salt Lake Temple for family members who had passed on as well as others.

She died 10 October 1953 in Heber City, Utah. Both she and her dear husband, Andrew are buried in the Heber Cemetery. Their children are as follows: William, Mary (Mrs. George D. Giles), Sarah (Mrs. Thomas Horrocks), Esther (Mrs. Thomas Davis), Andrew, Franklin, John, Martha (Mrs. John Farrer), Nellie (Mrs. Glen Drietzler), Mabel (Mrs. Cecil Wall), and Emma (Mrs. Arthur Street). All are deceased.

MAIR, Loren and Zella Howarth

I, Zella Howarth Mair, am the youngest child born to Wilford Woodruff and Ellen Mariah Giles Howarth. I was born January 13, 1920. When I was young, I liked to participate in plays and operettas. I remember two, especially, "Remember the Day" and "Tune In." I graduated from seminary and Wasatch High School in 1937.

My callings in the Church have included Primary teacher, counselor and president, nursery teacher and coordinator, librarian, and work on the Stake Primary Board. I have especially enjoyed creating visual aids, in fact, all kinds of handwork.

On June 19, 1940, I married Loren Mair, son of Andrew and Myrtle Young Mair, in the Salt Lake Temple

Loren was employed at Reed Rasband's coalyard and ice pond, the Heber depot, as custodian at Wasatch Junior and Senior High Schools, in Turner's Sawmill and in the Park City mines, until a cave-in broke his leg. Later, he worked for the Uinta Freight Lines and was a sexton at the Heber City Cemetery. He was born November 19, 1914, and died March 12, 1970, in Heber City.

We were blessed with two sons, Clinton and Alma Ray. Clinton married Judy Webster in the Salt Lake Temple. Their children are, Connie Lynne (Mrs. Jackie) Flippo, living in Amory, Mississippi, Karen Kaye, Wasatch Rodeo Queen 1986-87, Marc L., and Mont C. They live in Charleston. Ray married Gretchen Davies in Heber, later sealed in the Salt Lake Temple, now divorced.

I have enjoyed my work at Burdett Apparel, the Heber Creeper and the police station and city offices, where I am now employed.

MANGUM, Frank William and Ina Margaret Markham

Romantic Bridal Vail Falls has special memories for Frank Wm. "Billy" Mangum (born June 25, 1910) & Ina Margaret Markham (born October 25, 1910). As Bill tells it, he asked Ina "Wilt thou?" and she wilted. In 1930, a fall marriage united them.

Their union produced five (5) little Mangums: Nancy Lee (with 6 beautiful children), Janice (1 sweet adopted girl), Fredd Anthony (Tony) (4 talented, good-lookin' kids), Dee Anna or Dee Dee (one brilliant, handsome son), Rose Mary or Mary (with 3 gorgeous kids).

Bill and Ina's first two children, Nancy and Janice, were born in Utah County. They then moved to Wasatch County and started a business. It was in Heber the last three children were born. Their business also flourished. Besides the garage/service station/convenience store, Bill Mangum's Sport Shop opened up on E. Hwy. 40.

Bill and Ina fell in love with beautiful Heber Valley: the salt-of-the-earth people, the majestic mountains, lakes and streams, the HUNTIN' & FISHIN'. Bill and Ina provided well for their family — and others.

They shared with many the good things of this earth: beautiful flowers, fish, venison, dairy foods, fresh fruits, and vegetables (many preserved by Ina) and there was always a lot of love.

Ina cultivated and shared her beautiful, award winning flowers; for weddings, funerals, or those hospitalized. Ina rose to the occasion with her flowers. In a business sense, both Bill and Ina were hardworking, yet generous to a fault. Their customers and others knew them for their caring, loving ways. Many spoke of Bill's extraordinary patience, a man without guile.

Bill had what he considered a bad fault. He was very shy. Bill cried on his death bed while sharing his feelings of timidity in expressing his inner self publicly. For example, Daddy Bill was called upon, the last minute, to say the closing prayer in Church and this experience so traumatized him that he chose not to return for fear it might happen again. Once a week, however, Bill accompanied his sweet wife and friends to the S.L.C. Temple. As a genealogist, Ina sent in over 1,500 Scottish names. What a thrill they must have had doing this work!

Bill and Ina loved the Lord and all He created. They excelled in teaching their children the principles of the gospel BY EXAMPLE. The Heber 2nd Ward was special to all the family, as the members helped the Mangums in their spiritual growth.

Bill died, February 26, 1974 of cancer. He suffered greatly, but he still kept his sense of humor. One particular hospital visit, he was asked what advice or counsel he would leave his progenitors, he replied (with GREAT effort), "Don't get caught in the cookie jar." His best fishin' buddy, Daryl Shumway, took Bill on his last drive to his favorite spots in Wasatch County: the fishin' holes, mountains and, of course, beautiful Bridal Vail Falls, where Ina "wilted" after Bill's marriage proposal.

Ina's diabetic problems prompted a special blessing prior to her death on December 8, 1977. She was promised that death would be sweet. There would be no pain and she would go in a twinkling of an eye. She died of a heart attack, without pain.

Bill and Ina Mangum were truly one. You couldn't think of one without thinking of the other. The greatest legacy Bill and Ina left their grateful children was their GOOD NAME, the MANGUM NAME; a legacy which each child is striving to carry on.

McAFFEE, Moroni Smith Jr. and Blanche Young

Moroni Smith McAfee Jr. was born January 23, 1882 in Charleston, Utah to Moroni Smith McAfee Sr. and Alcie Miriam Hanks. He was known mostly by the name of Roney or Rone because his father had the same name.

Blanche Young McAfee born March 11, 1887 to Brigham Johnathan Young and Sarah McDonald.

They were married November 24, 1904 in Heber City by Bishop Joseph Rasband.

They lived in Charleston for the first years of their marriage then homesteaded land in the Uinta Basin up Rock Creek. Moroni first ran cattle then sheep on range ground up Still Water. The basin was then named the McAfee basin by which it is still known. Grandsons and great-grandsons enjoy deer hunting and such on grandparents' ground.

They were ambitious and prosperous people, growing most of their living in a garden, and keeping a pig, beef, chickens and such for meat and a cow for milk.

Blanche was a very ambitious, particular person in all her home and hand work which was beautiful and neat.

After 12 years in the basin, they moved to Heber City and bought a home on 2nd West 50 North in the Heber 2nd Ward.

December 1923 Blanche and Rone with their five children were sealed in the Salt Lake Temple for time and eternity.

Moroni was a man of many trades of which he made a success no matter what it was: chicken business, milk business, hauling ore from Park City to depot in Heber City by wagon and horses for shipping by rail, mining, farming, working on ranches, or for Heber Power and Light. Blanche was beside him as a help mate in everything he did.

All of their five children grew up in the Heber 2nd Ward. Arvel M. McAfee, Thora McAfee Schear, Melba McAfee Chapman, Doris McAfee Probst, and Floyd McAfee (deceased).

Blanche was very active in church especially in Primary for 16 years, as a Sunday school teacher, and as a Relief Society teacher for 56 years.

Moroni S. McAfee died July 27, 1963 age 82.

Blanche Y. McAfee died March 5, 1978 age 92.

McNAUGHTAN, Jay C. and Faye Coleman

Oct. 11, 1912 at 213 West Center in Heber City, William S. McNaughtan welcomed into their home their first son. He had two older sisters, Bessie and Zelma and later two brothers, Neil (who died in infancy) and Lincoln. He was blessed and given the name Jay C. McNaughtan by Bishop Joseph H. Rasband. He attended the Heber elementary schools, was baptized at 8 years in the Wasatch High swimming pool by Fred G. Carlile. His mother died of diphtheria when he was 10 years old. Five months later he suffered a bout with the same disease.

At an early age it was discovered that Jay had a voice to sing and he took part in many programs in school and church throughout his life. He graduated from Wasatch High School in 1931. He helped his father with the farm and cattle from that time on.

During the winter of 1933 the Heber 2nd Ward M-Men basketball team took the Stake championship for the first time in many years. The team consisted of Neil Montgomery, Lincoln Rasband, Glen Moulton, Marlow Mair and Jay. Their coach was Arthur Murdock.

On March 6, 1934, Jay married Faye Coleman in the Salt Lake Temple. They built a home just south of the McNaughtan home and lived there for 12 years. Five of their six children were born there: Mary, Janet, Ann, Bill and Nina.

Both Jay and Faye were active in the ward and community affairs. Jay worked in the YMMIA presidency, the stake missionaries, many chorus groups and quartets and as ward clerk for Bishop Wendell Duke. Faye served as a Primary teacher, as a counselor to Pearl Remund in the Primary presidency, and later as a counselor to Louella Clyde in the Relief Society. She was serving as secretary to Atha Montgomery in the Primary when Jay purchased the Murdock farm east of Heber.

Decoration Day, 1946, they moved to the farm, where they presently reside. Here another child, Don was born to them. They continued to serve in the church. Calls she had about this time were serving as a Stake Primary counselor and as a president. Three of their children served missions. Mary went to the Northern Far East, Bill to the Eastern States and Don to the South British. The children all married and Jay and Faye have 36 grandchildren and 7 greatgrandchildren at present. They all love coming to the farm and are active in their wards.

Probably the latest achievement of Jay's and Faye's was the 5 years they spent as temple workers in the Provo Temple.

MICKELSON, Faun Sharp

Nathola Faun Sharp Mickelson is the daughter of Alfred and Eugenia Sharp. For the last 18 years of her mother's life, she lived with and cared for her mother Eugenia at 144 South 100 West.

During those years she helped Eugenia cut, mark and bind many quilts. Faun had the privilege of doing the ward paper and also did the secretary job for the Sunday School and also was a visiting teacher.

Faun was Miss Wasatch in 1929 and attended Wasatch High. She still attends the class reunions with Clara Duke Turner. Faun is remembered also for dancing on the assemblies with her friends Clara Duke, Dorothy Linsey and Dorothy Buys.

Faun lived in Salt Lake after marrying Glen Hugh Mickelson, and raised Gary, Sharon, Melvin and Calvin and now has 6 grandchildren.

Faun returned to Heber in 1968 with her son Calvin to live with and help her mother. She worked at the school lunch at North and Central Schools and then at Wasatch High. Later she worked in the Information Caboose on Main Street until retiring to Salt Lake.

Faun is remembered for her cheery disposition and willingness to help as well as her patience and care for older people.

transferred them from Ogden, Utah to the Murdock Power Station, which was seven miles north of Heber on the road to Kamas.

There were five children in the family. Clyde married Delores Moulton, daughter of Addison and Catherine Moulton. Emmett married LaRae Moulton, daughter of Dewey and Blanche Moulton. Keith married Reve' Simpson, daughter of Squire and Bernice Simpson. Joyce married Douglas Edwards. Marilyn married Sheldon Edwards.

Sadie was a Relief Society visiting teacher in the Second Ward for many years.

There were five homes at the Murdock Power Station, and the landscaping at this area was always kept neat, green, and beautiful and was a pleasure for everyone to see and enjoy.

Dick worked at the station for twenty-five years until 1959 when the plant was torn down and the homes were moved. Dick was transferred to Salt Lake City where he continued to work for the Utah Power & Light Company until he retired in 1964.

Dick passed away in 1978, at the age of eighty-four, and Sadie died in 1980 at the age of eighty-one.

MILLER, O. Maurice and Yvonne Cummings Watson

O. Maurice Miller was born April 25, 1917 in Provo, Utah to Heber Chase and Henrietta H. Miller. His childhood was spent in Provo. He was educated in the Provo schools and attended the Brigham Young University and the Utah State Agricultural College.

He was 19 years of age when his father suddenly became ill and died. He felt his responsibility at this time was to take over his father's business and assist his mother and family, and this he did for many years.

Eleven years later, Maurice built the first drive-in movie theatre in Utah Valley. This same year he married Yvonne C. Watson in the Salt Lake Temple. Her parents are H. Clay and Ruby Cummings. She was born November 4, 1918 and served in all the organizations of both 2nd and 5th Wards. They also were privileged to be Provo Temple Workers. Maurice created a loving home for Yvonne and her children by a previous marriage: Robert Vaughn Watson, Dwayne Clay Watson, and Karolyn Yvonne Watson. Two sons were born to them, Maurice Clay Miller and Melvin Val Miller, while living in Orem, Utah, and also a daughter, Kathleen, who died as a baby.

The spring of 1953 Maurice moved his family to Heber City where he operated the Avon Theatre and a service station. While here he learned to appreciate and love the Heber Valley and the people who live here, especially those in the Heber Fifth Ward where he served in the Bishopric. While here two adopted children joined their family, Marlene and Mary.

With four children attending the Brigham Young University, Maurice and his wife were called to serve as missionaries in the Nauvoo Visitors Center for 18 months. He is a devout member of the LDS Church, holding the office of a High Priest. He served in the bishoprics of the Heber Fifth Ward, Provo 24th Ward and Provo 27th Ward. He enjoyed his work as a Boy Scout leader for many years, and in the presidencies of ward and stake programs for the young people of the Church. He was called to be an ordinance worker in the Provo Temple and served a temple mission to the St. George Temple.

Maurice enjoys traveling and has visited many of the temples throughout the world, including the Switzerland, London and Hawaii Temples. His greatest joy in this life is to be with his family, now numbering fifty-eight, at the cabins and ponds he has built in the mountains and calls "Our Wee Bit O' Heaven".

MONTGOMERY, Clayton and Dona Murdock

Life long members of the Heber 2nd Ward are Dona and Clayton Montgomery.

Dona Murdoch was born in the Heber 2nd Ward and lived her entire life in this ward.

Clayton and Dona were married in 1917 and lived their married life in the same family home at 191 West 100 South. Six children were born in the family: Elaine, Frances, Jay, Monta, Annette, and Steve. Only Elaine, Frances (Frankie), and Steve are living at this time. The Montgomery's have 14 grandchildren and 18 greatgrandchildren.

The Church was the center of most of the family activities.

Dona, being a beautiful pianist, served the ward and community by playing at all different programs, church services, and especially funerals. When she didn't play, she sang! The whole family was musical and it was one of their joys to sing and play various instruments. Most of the callings in the church were experienced by Dona and Clayton.

Clayton served a mission in the Northwestern States Mission, while Dona kept the family of 5 children at home. While in Chicago, Clayton had the privilege of being secretary to President Heber J. Grant, who was in a Chicago Hospital for surgery.

Dr. Clayton Montgomery, as everyone knew him in Heber Valley, practiced dentistry for over 45 years in his office on the 2nd floor of the Bank Building, giving service and relief from suffering to most patients.

Except for the years spent in the Military Service during World War II, Heber 2nd Ward was their home ward.

Beautiful flowers and shrubs in a yard surrounded by a white picket fence were a priority. Dona used to supply many bouquets for the church services and special occasions. In her yard was a beautiful round shaped box elder bush which she kept rounded with her trusty yard stick. Neighbors recall how welcome they were made to feel behind the white picket fence.

Clayton and Dona were great readers and studied the gospel thoroughly. Because of this, they both were extremely good teachers in the ward.

What precious memories they had of the neighbors and members of the Heber 2nd Ward!

MONTGOMERY, Clyde W. and Connie Casper

The Montgomery ancestors immigrated from Scotland as converts to the L.D.S. Church and settled in Fort Heber in 1861.

Clyde W. Montgomery was born July 21, 1931, in Heber City, Utah to John L. and Annie Webster Montgomery. His father died in 1942, leaving him without a father at eleven years old. He graduated from Wasatch High School in the Class of '49. He started working at the Pikes Peak Garage in 1947 and worked there as a mechanic for twentyone years. He was employed by Heber City Corp., Heber Valley Special Service District since 1968, as wastewater operator and district superintendent. He served two terms as Heber City Councilman; director, Heber Light and Power Co.; volunteer fireman since 1959, serving as secretary of the fire department since 1960. He was active in the American Pheasant Society serving as director, secretary, and president. He was secretary of the Utah Pheasant Society for fifteen years. He was named honorary member of both organizations.

He received Wastewater Operator of the Year Award in 1974 and 1985 from Utah State Division of Health. He was a certified operator, graduating from Clemson University and California State University, Sacramento Training Programs. He was named to "Who's Who in the West" in 1978. He farmed and raised cattle all of his life.

His Church activities include Sunday School superintendent, financial clerk, bishop's counselor, bishop, and stake executive secretary.

He married Connie Casper, February 10, 1951. She was born July 14, 1933 in Tabiona, Utah to Eldon and Elsie Wagstaff Casper. She was reared in Daniels, Utah. She graduated from Wasatch Stake Seminary and Wasatch High School, class of 1951.

Her ancestors joined the church in Nauvoo, Illinois and served in the Mormon Battalion. They settled in Wasatch County in the 1880's.

Connie served as secretary of the Fireman's Ladies Auxiliary for many years. Her church activities include serving in the Primary presidency, a teacher, serving in three Relief Society presidencies, and a visiting teacher. Her hobbies are cooking, sewing, reading.

Their children include, Mrs. Athel B. (Cindy) Fitzgerald, Wayne and Kelly Montgomery. One foster son, Eddie Clark, Indian Wells, Arizona.

MONTGOMERY, Earl and Atha Johnson

Atha was the first child born to Ralph and Luella Cummings Johnson. She had two sisters and two brothers. Her growing-up years were spent at 209 South, 2nd West as a member of the original 3rd Ward. The neighborhood children enjoyed playing games like kick-the-can, run-sheep-run and hide-and-seek.

[illegible]

After grade school, Atha attended high school and seminary and graduated from both. She really enjoyed school and looked forward to it each fall.

Her baptism when 8 years of age was in the old tithing office that stood where the Conoco Station is, at 1st North and Main.

One summer Atha worked at the pea cannery and that fall at the tomato cannery at Woods Cross, Utah. After, she was employed at J.C. Penny store.

The earliest recollection of service in the Church was giving a talk at 8 years about Moses in the Bullrushes. A continued life of service included being president of both Relief Society and Primary, plus being a counselor in both organizations. She has been a teacher and music director in all the organizations. She was a counselor, secretary and class leader on stake boards. She started at age fourteen leading the singing and is still a music director in the Fourth Ward, where a new ward alignment placed them.

Atha and Earl were married on Thanksgiving Day. Later their marriage was solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. They lived in the Third and First Wards for 11 years, then bought the Dr. Dannenberg home on 1st South and 2nd West, where they now reside.

It was great to live in a house that had indoor plumbing and plenty of room for a family of five children. They lived in the Second Ward for about 38 years and learned to love the people.

Earl was the twelfth child born to Robert and Elizabeth Lambert Montgomery. When a sophomore at Wasatch High he was chosen as a member of the main basketball team. That team won the State Championship in 1924. He also was a member of the Heber Eagles Baseball Team.

Earl worked with the Boy Scouts and was a counselor in YM-MIA. He was an elected board member of the Wasatch County School District and for 40 years he was the Texas Products distributor for Wasatch, Summit and Duchesne Counties until his retirement.

Their children are Ralph, a dentist in Murray; Rex, a government employee and real estate agent in San Antonio, Texas; Melvin, an electrical design engineer in Tennessee; Marva, a real estate agent in Justin, California; and Phil, a draftsman at Gallagher Co. in Orem.

MONTGOMERY, John Lowery, and wives Nellie Moulton and Annie Webster

John Lowery Montgomery was born August 30, 1868, in Heber City to John Horrocks and Mary Rogers Lowery Montgomery. He was educated in the public schools in Heber City, but from the age of twelve he worked hard, mostly with his older brothers who were logging in the mountains. As a young man, he worked on the Ontario tunnel and in mines in Park City.

On June 18, 1897, he married Sarah Ellen (Nellie) Moulton, the daughter of William Denton and Mary Laina Lee Moulton on the Moulton Ranch in a district called Hailstone (now Keetley). Nellie lived a carefree life, making pets of the young, ranch animals, fishing on small streams, riding horses and participating in other rural life activities. Often she was allowed to ride with her father and uncle in a wagon or a sleigh to take the ranch produce to Park City markets. But her education was not neglected, for she attended school in the Hailstone District School and the Academy in Heber City. She also spent a year with an aunt in Salt Lake City where she took lessons in dressmaking, art and penmanship.

Seven children were born to John and Nellie, namely, Marvel (Mrs. Joseph Hylton), William Lowery, Mary (Mrs. Harold Duke), Teenie (Mrs. Reed Rasband), John Neal, Nellie (Mrs. Herbert Madsen), and Doris (Mrs. Roy Clift).

After marriage, John became a farmer and cattle man. In the summer of 1912, his leg was badly crushed in a hay bailer. Doctors at his request tried to save the leg but after several years of suffering, lameness and many trips to the Provo Hospital, he agreed to having the leg amputated below the knee. Artificial limbs at that time were heavy and painful so he was still very lame. Nevertheless, he served for thirty years as watermaster for the North Fields Irrigation Company and for four years as Heber City night watchman.

Nellie Montgomery was a good housekeeper and seamstress. She sewed all the clothes for herself and her daughters and made the shirts for her sons while they were young. She served many years in the Relief Society as organist and visiting teacher.

John and Nellie were quiet, but industrious and friendly people. They loved young people and were thoughtful and giving to older people. They loved Heber Valley and were content to remain in the valley, taking only a few trips by light wagon and horses.

Nellie Montgomery died March 10, 1923. Later John married Annie Webster. She was born August 13, 1892 in Charleston, Utah to Elisha and Emma Miriam Edwards Webster. Her ancestors were all converts to the L.D.S. Church from England in the 1870's.

On June 11, 1928, they married in Heber City, Utah. She helped to raise his children, even though she suffered with poor health most of her life. She is the mother of Clyde W. Montgomery.

Her husband died December 14, 1942 after which she operated a small farm, took in ironing, etc., to provide a living. She was a widow for 26 years.

She enjoyed her grandchildren, nieces and nephews. She kept busy at all times, believing that idleness was the devil's workshop. When her health would allow it, she grew gardens and many beautiful flowers. Patience was one of her greatest virtues, especially with children.

After a brief illness, she died July 9, 1968, and was buried in the Heber City Cemetery.

MONTGOMERY, John Neal and Norma Moulton and Betty June Snider

John Neal Montgomery was born February 11, 1910 in Heber City, Utah. The Heber Second Ward has been our family ward for many, many years. My parents, John Lowery Montgomery and Sarah Ellen Moulton Montgomery, were both born and raised within the boundaries of this ward as were all of their children — Marvel, William, Mary, Teenie, Neal, Nellie and Doris. A few years after my mother died, my father married Annie Webster and they had one child, Clyde. It wasn't until I became a grown man and married that I moved out of Heber for approximately three years before returning to live in the Second Ward again. About sixty-six years have been spent living within its boundaries. Eight years ago, when the boundary lines were changed, I became a member of the Heber Fourth Ward.

I married Norma Moulton, daughter of Chase and Lillian Cummings Moulton. She was born in Provo. Her folks moved to Heber and she lived all but the first two years of her life in the Heber Second Ward. Norma and her sister were in many of the ward activities where their musical talents were used. Before and after our marriage, we used to love to participate in plays and church dances. We would compete with neighboring towns and oft times become the grand prize winners which gave us the opportunity of competing in All-Church competition at Salt Lake. Norma stayed active in the Primary organization, holding various positions, from teacher to president.

I held several position in the ward. I served as second counselor in the YMMIA when Francis Carlile was president and was the superintendent of the Sunday School for four or five years. I was called to be a counselor to Walter Seiter when he was made bishop of the ward. Many pleasant memories are recalled when I think back on those days. While in the bishopric we helped make the transition from the old Stake House to the brand new building that is being used today. It was the time when money was needed, the time to reactivate people, a good time to serve for all.

Norma and I had four children, all born in Heber, Brent, LuAnn, Alene and Lane. All of them grew up in this ward and have been taught by many of its great leaders and given opportunities for development in their spiritual lives. Brent married Bonnie Hilton of Heber and they have three children and two grandchildren; LuAnn married Norman Bacon of Heber and they have five children and two grandchildren; Alene married Glen Cromar of Denver, Colorado, and they have six children, one of whom passed away; and Lane married Tami Martin of Gridley, California. Lane served a mission in the Virginia-Roanoke Mission.

Norma passed away August 10, 1971. Three years later I married Betty June Snider. When Betty moved into the Heber Second Ward, she served as Sunday School organist and other positions in the MIA. She was born June 29, 1930 in Delta, Colorado, daughter of Charles and Marie Snider. She served a Western Canadian Mission. While working in Salt Lake City she met and married Neal in the Salt Lake Temple.

MORRIS, Joseph H. and Nile Allison

Joseph was born 4 June 1902 at Elkhorn, Utah nearly 9 miles North of Heber City, Utah, the eldest son of Larry and Louisa Janes Morris. He was always a farmer and dairyman.

He attended school at Elkhorn school house, located at the junction near the Sweeney sawmill, then later at Wasatch High in Heber. Church was also held in the Elkhorn School house where Joe's father was superintendent of Sunday School and Orson Lee was the Bishop. When the school house was moved to Keetley and used as a dwelling and the big red brick school was built, and used for several years for school and church, the students were bussed to Heber.

Joseph married Nile Allison June 24, 1925 in the Salt Lake Temple. She was the 2nd child in a family of eight, born to Alex and Jane Lindsay Allison in Center Creek, Utah.

After graduating from Wasatch High, she attended BYU receiving her teachers' certificate and teaching 2 years in Center Creek previous to her marriage to Jo Morris.

They build a new home at Elkhorn (Hailstone) where they lived for 57 years. (Emily Hailstone and Joseph Morris were grandparents of Jo's and when Elkhorn school was moved to Keetley the area became known as Hailstone).

Nile was active in the organizations of Heber 2nd and 5th wards as Junior Sunday School organist, chorister and teacher, also working in the Primary.

In October of 1982, Jo and Nile moved to Heber, living in the Heber 7th ward, where their children had built a new brick home for them. Jo became ill and passed away 1st of April 1984. Nile is still living there, friendly, gracious and hospitable as she always has been over the years.

Their children are: Aileen, married to Howard Norton and living in Ogden, Robert (Bob) married to Bonnie Carlile, lives in Heber and Lee Jay married to Liela Antsol, living in Orem.

They have 8 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

MOULTON, Addison Charles and Catherine Hegyessy

Addison Charles Moulton, known as Addie, was born April 30, 1889, in Heber, Utah to John Ephraim and Isabell Thacker Moulton. He was a grandson of Thomas Moulton who joined the L.D.S. Church in England, and came to America. They crossed the Plains to Utah with the ill-fated Willie Company and came to help settle Heber Valley in 1860.

He attended BYU and went on a mission to California in 1911. While on his mission he met Catherine Hegyessy, a convert to the Church. Catherine Mary Emma Hegyessy was born Sept. 17, 1890 in Alliance, Ohio to James and Florence Maud Tritt Hegyessy. On May 21, 1913, Addie and Catherine were married in the Salt Lake Temple. They were parents of five children; Florence Fern Anderson, John B. Moulton, Delores Miller, Adele Provost, and Addie Murdock Hunter.

A.C. was a successful farmer and livestock man, and was always trying to help people in the livestock business. He worked in partnership with his brother, Dewey, for many years, and they enjoyed their work very much. Addie served as a member of the twenty-sixth Utah State Legislature, and was a high councilman in Wasatch Stake for 15 years.

Catherine was a lovable, kind woman. She and Addie helped lots of young people with their problems. She loved to teach shorthand and typing to young people to help them be more successful in life. She worked for the draft-board until she retired. She loved to travel, and visit the home-bound, also to visit her children and grandchildren who had moved to other areas.

Always active church workers, A.C. and Catherine were members of the Heber 2nd Ward until Sept. 1954, when the ward was divided, and they became members of the Heber 5th Ward.

They marvelled at the many changes that took place during their life-time; they were loving, and good parents to their five children. The gospel meant much to them in their lives, and they tried to prepare their children likewise.

Catherine passed away after a short illness in April, 1956, and was sorely missed by her family.

In 1957 A.C. married Lacy Swain; she died in September, 1986.
Addison Charles Moulton passed away Dec. 22, 1977 and was buried in Heber City, Utah.

MOULTON, Ernest Dewey and Blanche VanWagoner Moulton

Ernest Dewey Moulton was born in Heber City, Utah on May 7, 1898, the seventh child of eight to John Ephraim and Isabell Thacker Moulton. He lived in Heber City practically all of his life until his death on May 5, 1977.

He attended the local schools, graduated from Wasatch High School, then attended Utah State Agricultural College for one year. He had a "built-in calculator" in his head for mathematics, doing what computers do today.

He was taught the value of hard work in his growing-up years by working with his father on the farm and with animals.

When he was sixteen Dewey's father, who was Mayor of Heber at the time, died, leaving the responsibility of taking care of the farm and their widowed mother to him and his brother, Addison, which they did until her death ten years later.

He raised Hereford cattle most of his life with only a short stint in the sheep business, and for years he, Addison, and several other cattlemen would drive their cattle to the summer range land in Current Creek, then back to the valley fields in the fall for winter feeding.

The summers were spent growing, irrigating and cutting acres of hay for the winter supply of feed for the cattle.

Several times he took a trip in the fall to Omaha or Los Angeles to try to sell the beef cattle at more lucrative markets.

For approximately a year during his early marriage years, Dewey hauled ore by team and wagon from the Park City mines to be loaded on the train at Heber City, and then on to the smelters.

For a number of years, Dewey and Addison, who were in business partnership for many years, raised green peas for a cash crop to sell to Woods Cross Cannery. Also, for a few seasons they raised sugar beets, which went to the beet dump at the railroad depot, and then were shipped out of the valley by train.

Blanche VanWagoner was born in Midway, Utah on February 22, 1901, the third of ten children, and one adopted, to John VanWagoner, Jr. and Margaret Jane Young VanWagoner.

When Blanche was about seventeen, she contracted the dreaded flu during the influenza epidemic in 1918. She was so terribly ill that when the Midway Cemetery sexton was at their home and saw her, he was sure that she would never get well, so he dug her grave in preparation for its need. But the Lord healed her to complete her purpose in life of marriage and having a family.

She was married in the Salt Lake Temple to Dewey on May 26, 1920 the next year after her high school graduation; then moved to Heber City, where she lived the rest of her life until her death on January 7, 1980.

Blanche and Dewey enjoyed life with their family and many friends. They both had pleasing, likeable personalities which drew friends to them easily, and they enjoyed home parties together with them.

They were both very industrious workers, yet conservative, and worked hard to meet the needs of a growing family.

They both loved music, dancing, and singing, but his many years of health problems limited their activities. Because of health problems, they spent winter months from November to April in Mesa, Arizona from 1952 to 1974.

They were both active in the L.D.S. Church as far as health would allow them to do so, but always set a good example of gospel principles. Blanche was always a very charitable, giving person, and wasn't satisfied until she could give the visitors in her home something — food or otherwise, as they left. Dewey always said, "If Blanche couldn't find something to give them, she would send them home with the front door!"

Their five children are: John Melvin Moulton, married to Barbara McDonald; LaRae Moulton to Emmett Wayne Miller; Derial Leo Moulton, to Erma Jane Whiting; Margie June Moulton, to Zephire Peterson; Collene Annette Moulton, to Norman G. Frantz.

MOULTON, George Francis and Vera Stubbs

George Francis Moulton was born August 17, 1887, in Heber City, Utah, to Joseph Moulton and Jensine Marie Jensen. He married Vera Stubbs December 11, 1911. Vera was the daughter of John William Stubbs, and Clarissa Matilda Turner. Vera Stubbs was born on October 29, 1891, in Provo, Utah. Francis lived in Heber until he was about 3 1/2 years old. At that time he moved to Mexico. His father was a polygamist and had three wives; if they hadn't moved to Mexico his father would have had to go to prison.

After Francis and Vera married they lived in Provo, Utah, for about 3 years. After living in Provo they sold their home and moved to Heber City, Utah, where they lived the rest of their lives. After moving to Heber, Francis worked with his two brothers, Chase and Tom, in the Moulton Garage, where they had a Ford Dealership for 13 years. Later they opened a business in Park City, Utah, where Francis was the manager. After losing the business in Park City, Francis operated the Standard Oil Station on South Main. In April 1941, Francis and Vera moved to the Hub Cafe and Auto Court which they operated for the next five years. In 1946 they moved back to their home at 164 West Center. That same year Francis and his son, Jack, opened a glass business on Fifth South and Main. They worked together until Francis retired when he was 72.

Vera spent many years in the Primary organization as a teacher, and in various other capacities. When Vera was released from the Stake Board in 1934, the following tribute was paid to her by Annie M. Rasband, the Stake Historian.

"There are three outstanding characteristics I have greatly admired in you. Your thoughtfulness of others, your love for the beautiful, and your keen appreciation of wit and humor. May it always keep you happy."

Francis and Vera lived a long, happy life together, and in 1975 celebrated their 64th Wedding Anniversary. Three children were born into this family, Jack, Helen, and Afton.

They had 11 grandchildren, 37 great-grandchildren, and 9 great-great-grandchildren.

MOULTON, Hyrum and Mary C. Hicken

Hyrum was the son of William Denton and his second wife, Mary Ann Davis Hicken. Mary was the daughter of Thomas Hicken Jr. and Sarah Jane McMillan.

Hy and Mary were married in 1902 in the Salt Lake Temple. He was employed by Heber Light and Power plant for 31 years, working 12 hours a day. I never remember a Christmas that he didn't have to work either day or night.

Their children: Hyrum Rufus (deceased), Ivie Morris & Alphonse Moon; Glen (deceased); Rachel Johnson; Blanch, Don Hawke; Leah, Clive Calder; Marvel, Delbert Neeley; Dean, Glenna Duke; Donna, Earl Dayton; Thomas & Rhea died as infants.

Life was not as easy as it is today, with no hot water, no bathroom, a two-hole privy out back. I remember one night as Marvel made her last trip for the day, she left the door open so as to let in the moonlight, when all at once she felt something on her shoulders, stumbling legs and panties, she streaked for the house and to this day hates cats.

We bathed in a tin tub in the kitchen on Saturday night. Mother adding a tea kettle of hot water as each one took his turn. Dad bathed in the middle of the week. One day after Dad had been bathing, he was sitting at the table chatting with Mom in his garments, (Mom had constantly told him "Some day you are going to get caught."). A knock came to the door and Mom said, "Come in." Dad scrunched up saying "I'm undressed," as a sales lady came in. "So I see," she said, and Mom was in hysterics laughing.

Leah and Glen were like adding soda to vinegar. He need only roll his eyes at her at the dinner table and she went into rage.

Blanch always had many friends, doing their hair, or having them over for meals or to sleep, even though we only had 2 bedrooms and 7 kids.

Dean 'Smiler', served his country in the Navy. How thankful we were when he returned home safe, as his cousin, Bert Hicken, was killed in action.

Rufus, the oldest was married before I was born. He was a court reporter.

Donna, I was the spoiled one, plenty to do it. Mom was 46 when I was born. I'm glad she didn't quit at 40 with Dean.

Our parents have 36 grandchildren and many great-grandchildren. We had a wonderful home and loved one another. We all loved to return to that home where we were loved.

Dad died after a brave fight with cancer at the age of 71, in 1952. Mom lived nineteen more years and died after breaking her hip at age 87. She was a very special lady and loved dearly by her husband and family. I often think how happy Dad would have been to greet Mom when she died even though she was wearing white not red; as Dad loved to see her in red.

Our parents taught us to love the gospel and to serve the Lord and its value in our lives has been immeasurable.

MOULTON, John Ephraim and Isabell Tonks Thacker

John E. Moulton was born in 1860 in the Old Fort at Heber, Utah. He died in February, 1915 in Heber. He married Isabell Thacker in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City on March 23, 1882. She was born in Philadelphia, Penn., in 1858. She died in March, 1925 at Heber, Utah.

They had lived at Elkhorn for four years before moving to Heber. To them were born eight children: Charlotte, (Mrs. Fred Giles), John Thomas Moulton, Frederick Moulton, Addison Charles Moulton, Deyce Bell, (Mrs. Hyrum Robbins), Albert Thacker Moulton, Ernest Dewey Moulton, and Ethel Fern, (Mrs. N.C. Watson).

John Ephraim helped make bricks for some of the first homes in Heber City, and brought sandstone from east of Heber for the foundations. He joined John Crook and Fred Giles in making bricks for the homes in Heber. In the beginning they made 3,000 bricks a day, but soon were able to make 6,000 bricks a day. By 1889 they all three had fine brick homes.

He was a successful farmer and teacher all his life and was on the finance committee when the Amusement Hall was built in Heber. He was active in politics, serving 10 years on the city council, and was elected mayor of Heber in 1913. During his tenure, the power plant north of town was built. He was interested in the development of this valley, and worked all his life to make the Heber area a wonderful place to live.

He served on the High Council for many years, and served a mission to the Northern States at the time he and his wife had three children. He held the position as district leader while on his mission.

His family meant a great deal to him; he truly had a testimony of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and was a real pioneer with his good wife and family.

Isabell's parents were converts to the Church, and they left to come west in 1861, Isabell walking most of the way. In Salt Lake City they lived in a dugout and endured many privations. They moved to Heber in 1870. She worked to help support the family and to pay for her own tuition for school. She was one of the first teachers in Daniel. While working at the Moulton ranch, she met and married John Ephraim.

MOULTON, Roy Dickson and Ella Beth Shelton

Roy Dickson Moulton, son of Edmond Roy Moulton and Lucy Dickson, and Ella Beth Shelton, daughter of Charles Albert Shelton and Maud Ella Watson, were married in the Salt Lake Temple on August 27, 1941. They lived in the Moulton Home at 93 North 100 West, in the Heber Second Ward.

Dick went into the United States Air Force on May 2, 1942, and Beth worked at the Heber City Hospital. Dick trained in several states for a B-24 bomber crew. He spent 23 months in the Central Pacific in active service. He was awarded the distinguished Flying Cross, the Air medal, and four oak leaf Clusters. He returned to the States in August of 1944. Dick was stationed in Manchester, New Hampshire as part of a search and rescue squadron. Beth joined Dick in New Hampshire and their first baby, Charles Roy, was born on April 27, 1945. Dick was honorably discharged from the service in October 1945.

Dick was the first chief of police in Heber City. He worked for United States Steel at Geneva in Utah County for twenty-eight years.

Lucy was born April 3, 1948. Nancy came November 26, 1954, and Grant followed on December 9, 1960. Our children are the sunshine in our lives.

Dick has been first counselor in the Sunday School, and Heber Second Ward Clerk for many years. Beth was coordinator for the Junior Sunday School for many years, counselor and president of the MIA, and counselor of the Relief Society. They built their home at 151 West 200 North, and raised their family in the Heber Second Ward.

Their oldest son, Roy, served a mission in the Western States Mission and received his Masters Degree from Brigham Young University. He and his wife, Dottie, and three children live in Kuna, Idaho. Roy works as a virologist and microbiologist in Boise, Idaho. Roy's wife, Dottie, teaches English and German at Kuna High School.

Lucy has a Bachelors Degree in Elementary Education and taught school for several years. She and her husband, Guy Scribner and their four children live in Salt Lake City, Utah. Guy owns Ming of Utah, Inc., in Salt Lake City.

Nancy went to BYU for a year and then completed Barber School. She has her business in her home in Heber City. Nancy and her husband, Randy Daybell, have three children. Randy teaches Seminary in Park City and is currently pursuing his Masters Degree in Ancient Near Eastern Studies.

Grant served a 2 year mission in Spain Madrid in 1979. Grant went to BYU and later transferred to the University of Utah's School of Pharmacy. He and his wife Shauna live in Salt Lake City. Shauna is studying to become a Registered Nurse.

Dick retired from Geneva Steel in 1982, and they moved to a new home at 340 West 400 North in Heber City. Dick has served in the Fifth Ward as Executive Secretary, Chairman of the Finance Committee, and High Priest Group Leader. Beth has been the Compassionate Service person, a counselor in the Relief Society, and is presently Relief Society President. They became temple workers at the Provo Temple in January of 1985.

"We have been blessed with a good family and much happiness."

MOULTON, T. Henry and Maybell McMullin

The T. Henry and Maybell McMullin Moutlon family's roots are so firmly implanted in Heber it is small wonder that we continue to think of the Ward as our home ward and Heber City as our home town; even though we gave up residence there in the fall of 1946. The family of T. Henry and Maybell Moulton now living includes: Asael of Ogden; J. Heber of Bountiful; Boyd L. of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Thomas D. of Logan; and Carol (Mrs. Jack Peterson) of Corvallis, Oregon. Now deceased is Stella the daughter of T. Henry and Estelle Bodily Moulton. Stella's mother passed away during the birth and Henry was left a widower with an infant daughter. When Stella was six years old, Henry married Maybell. Also there were two more boys, Henry and Robert who died in infancy.

We recall with gratitude our mother's beautiful voice and the many hours she spent in giving musical service in times of need for many families, particularly the duets with Frank Epperson.

In her elderly years, our mother fondly recalled climbing the stairs of the Stake House with Nellie Dayton and Clara Epperson to sing Christmas Carols from the steeple balcony.

Our family home at 22 South 100 West was the residence of nearest proximity to the meeting house. For that reason our home and the Dayton home across the street was frequently the scene of extended church functions: a place for rehearsals, a telephone call (before the days of telephones in the church buildings), a place for a scout meeting or to warm food for a church party.

Ace, Heber, and Boyd still recall the release of Bishop Joseph Rasband and the sustaining of Bishop Fred Carlile. We recall with a chuckle, Tom's childhood pronunciation of "Thread Carlile".

Probably no young brothers could have been more excited that August morning when Dad came upstairs to tell us of our newly arrived little sister. Reflecting upon that event, we're sure the entire adult membership of the ward took credit for having their prayers answered when Carol arrived instead of another Moulton boy.

Our father, Henry Moulton, was a counselor to Bishop Rasband and served as a member of the Stake High Council. He taught in Wasatch High School until his retirement. During Bishop Carlile's administration, Mother served as President of the Ward Relief Society. Dad, Ace and Heber all left from and returned to the Ward after serving missions in the North Central States, Czechoslovakia and the Southern States respectively. Along with about a hundred other young members of the Second Ward, the four sons of Henry and Maybell served in the military during World WarII. Names and events cannot here be mentioned but we were a happy family in a very stable ward surrounded with grandparents, uncles, aunts and cousins and associated with wonderful neighbors and youthful companions. We shall always be grateful for that blessing and the blessing of having the example of great people to teach us and to lead and shape our lives.

MURDOCK, Numphus Warren,
Emily C. Hicken and Henrietta Perry Amble

My father, Nymphus Warren Murdock, was born June 17, 1887, in Charleston, Utah to Joseph R. and Margaret Wright Murdock. There were eleven children in his family: Mima, Josie, Royal, Niff, Sadie, Emer, Chloe, Cora, Barney, Nellie, and Erma.

Dad grew to young manhood on his father's farm where he learned the benefits of hard work. He was a lively young boy and played lots of tricks on his younger sisters and brother.

In 1903, Joseph R., his father, built a large red rock home on 3rd West 100 South in Heber, and the family moved there to live. The house is a landmark in the area. He attended school in Heber and Brigham Young University. He married Emily C. Hicken March 7, 1907, later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. They lived in the Second Ward and Dad worked as a bookkeeper for Heber Mercantile for several years.

In 1911 Dad left for an L.D.S. mission to North Western States. He had two children then, Faye and Joseph Orson. My mother rented her home and moved in with her parents, Orsen and Emily Hicken, and sewed people's dresses and hats to help keep her husband on his mission.

In 1914 my parents moved to a ranch in Currant Creek in the Northeastern portion of Utah. It was a large ranch and my father worked long and hard to break ground, dig ditches and prepare the ground for planting of crops. We were indeed pioneers in every sense. There were no modern conveniences of any kind. We carried water from the spring, had gas lights, and traveled by horseback, buggies or wagons. We did own a model T. car about 1920.

My Dad had a very serious accident; he turned out to miss a school bus and hit the hillside in Red Creek. He broke two vertebra and punctured his lungs with broken ribs. He was nursed back to health after many months.

When I was 12 years old, we moved to Heber for the winter. We lived in Grandpa R. J. Murdock's home. In latter years, my Dad made it into eight apartments. He stayed at the ranch in the winter.

Things went well for years, then Dad had a ruptured appendix. He nearly died again, but made it. A month after this my mother was stricken down. After much agony and suffering, she passed away (tubular pregnancy) on June 28, 1928. She was survived by Fay, Joe, John, Carl Norma, Barney, Fern and Catherine.

Dad met Henrietta Perry Amble and she had a daughter, Thora, 4 years old. We were all very happy for a new mother, and we are to this day. Dad and Retta were married June 26, 1926, in the Salt Lake Temple. They added two more sons, Niff P. and Roy, to our family, numbering eleven children

Dad worked at the Geneva Steel Plant, as a miner, and as the Heber Marshall. He took pride in their beautiful flowers and lawn. He loved his wives and children and was a kind and considerate man. He was a High Priest and honored his priesthood. He had a long serious illness but was always patient and considerate of others. He passed away in Provo, November 25, 1966, survived by 10 children and wife, Retta, two sisters, Erma Dixon and Nellie Sheppard. He was preceded in death by his daughter, Fern Freeman.

NELSON, George and Florence Ann Jacob

George Nelson, son of Jesse Richmond Nelson and Annie Bonner, was born October 28, 1887, in Heber City, Utah. George died October 9, 1963, in Heber City. He was a farmer, stockman, and state brand inspector.

Florence Ann Jacob was the daughter of Hugh Anderson Jacob and Isabell Harriet West, both of whom were deaf. Florence was born June 12, 1895, in Pleasant Grove, Utah. She died March 14, 1975, in Murray, Utah. Her father was a mine blacksmith and cook.

George and Florence were married in the Salt Lake Temple on April 12, 1915. They were the parents of three sons: George at the Golf Course as cook and at the Homestead Pantry and in the kitchen of the Stardust Cafe. In 1972, she bought the old Nelson home and remodeled it into a lunch counter. Earl Dayton was one of her employees and he said, "I think you should call this "The Whistle Stop" because the Heber Creeper has to stop and blow the whistle before crossing the highway." The name stayed with it for the three years she operated the business, but it got too big for her; so she now rents it.

ReVee Nelson graduated from Wasatch High in 1950, and entered Nursing School. She married Waldo Goodrich Johnson October 16, 1950 (later divorced). She moved to Tooele, where she worked in the Tooele Ordinance Plant and where her son Gary Scott Johnson was born at the Tooele Hospital, December 17, 1951. He preceded her in death May 20, 1973. ReVee worked thirty-two years at the Veterans Hospital. She died March 14, 1985, after a lingering illness.

Kurt Ray Nelson, born October 19, 1934, Heber City, Utah, graduated from Wasatch High in 1952; joined the Navy in 1952 and was discharged in 1955. Kurt married Alice Noreen Goff in 1955 and had two daughters, Lori Lee Morden, born July 25, 1956, and Jacqueline Nelson Pitt, born March 24, 1958.

At this time, the posterity of Ray and Paloma Nelson totals three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren: Mica and Matthew Morden, and Ashlee and Kristin Brooke Pitt.

PACE, Clarence E. and Thora Van Leuven

Clarence E. Pace was born October 19, 1916, in Hoytsville, Utah, to Frank and Emma Tree Pace. After graduating from B.Y.U., he taught school in Park City, Heber and Orem, forty years total.

While at B.Y.U., he met and married Thora Van Leuven, September 20, 1939, in the Salt Lake Temple.

She was born in Nightsville, Utah to Zera Dee and Lyda Harrison Van Leuven, February 19, 1917.

Clarence and Thora moved from Park City to Heber and bought the old Carlile home at 284 West Center, living there for 17 years.

They were very active in Ward and Stake organizations while living there.

He was Young Men's Stake Dance Director, while having many ward positions. These included all sports, dances, road shows (always a winner), and speech festivals. Clarence also served in Presidency of M.I.A., president of Elder's Quorum and Deacon Advisor.

Clarence spent many hours in behalf of the youth and adults in the Stake and Ward. Because of all this time, devotion and sincerity, he was awarded Honorary Master M. Men pin, the highest award of service given in M.I.A. He is very proud of this honor.

The Gold and Green Floor Shows were very beautiful and professionally done; because Clarence Pace and Wanda Simmons (both from 2nd Ward) and ward leaders put in many hours to perfect them.

They were the very first to start the idea of having the floor show before the dance began; so the parents could sit down and enjoy it. Thus the costumes and decorations were always fresher and prettier than waiting until intermission.

Thora taught the Cub Scouts, a newly organized program in the church, teaching about 12 boys, then gradually advanced to Treckers and Guide Scouts. She was a primary counselor to Atha Montgomery also Jennie Carlile. After serving in Sunday School and M.I.A. also Stake Primary Board, she became a Primary President in Heber 2nd Ward. This was a fund raising time for the new ward and Stake Center, and they helped by having projects of cake sales, Vaudeville shows and carnivals. The children could help buy a brick if they would bring a dime for this purpose. They made their quota.

Their children are: Janet, married to Wayne Alder; Karen, married to Roger Ching; Jerry, married to Barbara Miller; Lonnie, married to Carolyn Butt; Roger, married to Diane Williams.

They have 24 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

PITTS, George and Zella Moulton

George Pitts was born in Bristol, Conn. May 6, 1904. He came to Utah working in construction on the Kamas canal. He met and married Zella Moulton in 1930, and the marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. They have three children, two boys and one girl.

Don was born June 23, 1931. He married Gwen Carlile June 6, 1957 in the Salt Lake Temple. They live in Centerville, Utah. They have six children, one boy and five girls. Five are married and one, a teenager, is in high school. They have thirteen grandchildren.

Colleen was born November 13, 1933. She married Ralph Sorensen December 30, 1950. Their marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. They have seven children, five boys and two girls. Four have filled missions, three are married, and there are nine grandchildren. Colleen passed away September 28, 1971.

George D. was born June 19, 1942. He served a mission in Texas 1963-1965. He married Karen Kinnersley in the Salt Lake Temple on December 17, 1965. They have eight children, two boys and six girls. One is married and they have one grandson. George is a doctor and lives and practices in Heber City, Utah.

George worked on heavy duty equipment for New Park and Hecla Mines until he retired. He was a convert to the Church. He was a High Priest, a ward clerk, and held many responsible positions in the Church. He passed away December 5, 1981.

Zella worked in the public for many years as a clerk. She worked in the Church in Primary, Sunday School, and Relief Society. She was president of Relief Society for two years and retired to help care for her daughter before she passed away.

She has worked in the German extraction program for seven years and is still processing thousands of names to be sent to the temple. At the present time, she is secretary of the Sunday School and has been a visiting teacher for years. They have twenty-one grandchildren and twenty-two great-grandchildren.

RASBAND, Mark Emmett and Merle Jane Dayton

Mark Rasband was born in Heber City, Utah on September 4, 1919, on his mother's forty-ninth birthday. His father was Joseph A. Rasband and his mother was Eliza Ann Jeffs Rasband.

He attended school in the Wasatch Schools and Utah State College in Logan, and Brigham Young University. He served a mission to the North Western States. He also served in the United States

Army almost three and one-half years. He started working for the Wasatch County School District in the Midway School, in 1951 and was there fourteen years as teacher and principal. He then moved to the North Elementary as principal and has been a principal at the Central Elementary school, with a total of thirty-seven years in the schools, retiring this year (1987).

"I, Merle J. Rasband, was born in Heber City, Utah on October 6, 1924. My father was Forrest H. Dayton and my mother was Nellie Jane Giles Dayton.

I was educated in the Wasatch schools, worked at Mountain Bell Telephone Co. when the operator would say "Number Please?", and also at the Palace Drug. Music has been a big part of my life as I enjoyed dancing, piano, voice and found myself involved very much in the public with these God given talents. Many programs such as talent shows, Miss Wasatch contests, parade committee and so forth have taken my time. I also treasure the experience of singing and accompanying at funerals for those who are in need and sorrowing. I have never been without a church position and consider that among my blessings."

Mark and Merle were married in the Salt Lake Temple on April 25, 1946. To this union have been born three children, Dean M. Rasband, Clinton, Utah, who works for the Weber Basin Job Corps in Ogden. He and his wife, Holly have four children. Glenn D. Rasband, Salt Lake City, teaches for the Granite School District, and he and his wife Harriet, have two daughters. Jane Rasband Landon works for the Granite School District, as a teacher.

Mark and Merle's home on 274 North Main Street, was included in the second ward for many years with boundaries going around it because Mark's father was the Bishop of the Heber Second Ward.

Mark has been involved in every type of church work, especially in record keeping, teaching, and executive positions. He too, is a stalwart in the church and values the gospel very much.

RASBAND, Joseph Sylvan and Annie Janet McMullen

J. Sylvan Rasband was born November 4, 1891, to Joseph A. and Eliza Jeffs Rasband, the oldest in a family of nine. Annie Janet McMullin, was born January 11, 1891, to Henry Lufkin and Janet Osborne Murdoch McMullin, the sixth child in a family of seven.

Each had happy childhood memories. J. Sylvan, however, seemed to be somewhat accident prone. In one accident, the little finger of his right hand was caught in a hay pulley. He completely lost the little finger, but few people ever realized it was missing.

Sylvan attended school in Provo at what is now known as the BYU, graduating from the School of Commerce in 1911. Annie took part in many musicals during her school years in Heber. She later attended Normal School in Provo, where she received a teaching certificate.

Sylvan was called to serve in the Swiss German Mission. About the time he was to return home, hostilities of World War I broke out, and he was jailed as a spy and held in prison for two weeks before his release could be secured. Annie taught school in Wallsburg and Heber during this time.

Several months after Sylvan returned home, on May 12, 1915, Annie and Sylvan were married in the Salt Lake Temple. To this couple were born seven children. Joseph Mack, Victoria, Beverly, Eliza Janett, Dale J., Karma Jean and Anne Mauree.

Sylvan supported his family working as a bookkeeper in the Heber Mercantile. He also owned a dairy herd. The years of the late twenties and early thirties were years of the depression which caused a great deal of hardship for this family. Jobs were scarce and with hay selling for $40.00 a ton and milk retailing for twenty-five cents a gallon, ends did not quite meet. They were thankful and happy when Sylvan was offered a job as director of the Wasatch County Welfare Department, when it was established in 1932. This position he held until his retirement at the age of seventy.

Annie and Sylvan served in the community, the school, and church. Annie served in the primary organization for over fifty years and Sylvan served as accountant/bookkeeper and member of the Wasatch Stake Dairy Farm Committee for over thirty years. He was elected Treasurer for Heber City and later, City Clerk and Recorder. Annie sang with Adeline chorus for many years and was an active member of the first PTA. One of the highlights in their life was serving a mission together to the Central Atlantic States.

This couple shared nearly seventy years of married life. There were trials but good times, too. As Sylvan wrote in his history, "We have had a happy married life." They were devoted to one another. The love they shared overflowed to many people.

J. Sylvan passed away July 17, 1984, at the age of 92. On January 11, 1987, Annie celebrated her 96th birthday.

RASBAND, Reed and Teenie Montgomery

Reed Rasband, son of Joseph A. and Eliza Ann Jeffs Rasband was born January 30, 1903, in Heber City, Utah. He was educated in the Wasatch County School district, and in January, 1924, he began his mission to California for the Church.

Reed has always served faithfully in the Church. His first calling was president of the Deacon's quorum. Other callings have included counselor in the Y.M.M.I.A., counselor to Bishop Fred Carlile, president of the High Priest's quorum and home teacher.

Perhaps Reed's most valuable contribution to the Church was his service to the boys in the ward. He was their friend and helper and often used his truck to haul them and their gear on scout outings.

He served his community as a school board member for nine years beginning in 1939. He also spent a term as president of the North Field Irrigation Company.

As a young man, he fed cattle for his father and hauled coal for his brother Sylvan. In 1928, he bought a truck and an ice business and went into business for himself. In 1932, he bought the coal yard business. He also bought farm land and raised cattle.

In 1928, he married Teenie Montgomery, daughter of John L. and Sarah Ellen Moulton Montgomery. Teenie was also educated in the Wasatch County Schools. She enjoyed drama and was active in three act plays put on by the M.I.A.

Reed and Teenie had four sons, J. Verl, who married Fern Casper, Boyd M., who married Mary Bennett, John Lynn, who married Marilyn Alder, and Noel J.

They lived at 364 West 200 North for eleven years then moved to 332 West Center. Reed and Teenie lived in the Heber Second Ward for over seventy years. When the ward boundary was changed in 1979, they became members of the Heber Fifth Ward.

Besides helping her husband in his business enterprises, Teenie became a practical nurse and worked at the local hospital as a nurse and as a pink lady. She became an excellent seamstress, making much of her own clothing, and shirts for her boys. She also likes to quilt, crochet, and embroidery.

Through the years, she has taught classes in Y.W.M.I.A. and served as president of that organization. She taught in Sunday School and in Relief Society and was secretary of that organization. She also served as secretary of the Primary organization. This position she held for twenty-five years.

Reed died in July 1986.

REMUND, Karl F. and Pearl Carlile

I was born December 7, 1906, in Heber City, Utah to Charles and Amelia Snow Carlile. After attending grade school at North and Central schools, I graduated from Wasatch High School.

Before working at the Heber Mercantile Company for many years, I was employed at Hiatt's Drug Store.

In Heber Second Ward, I worked in Primary, Sunday School and Relief Society organizations and have been a librarian in the Linden Ward where I now live. I also belong to the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers here in Linden.

Karl and I were married December 24, 1930, in Provo, Utah, and were later sealed in the Salt Lake Temple.

He was the son of Alice Sultzer Remund and Frederick Jr. Remund. He was born in Midway, June 26, 1900, and died February 9, 1982.

We are the parents of two children: RaVae R. Fortie, her husband is Dewaine J. Fortie, and they live in Ogden, Utah; Duane married Irene Dean, and they live in Orem, Utah.

We have 6 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren.

I hope that we will leave our family with as great an inheritance as our parents left us. We pray that they will learn the values in life that are important.

RICHARDSON, Reva Agnes Noakes

Reva Agnes Noakes Richardson was born January 8, 1906, in Charleston, Wasatch Co., Utah, the tenth child of John Hubbard and Margaret Priscilla Casper Noakes. She attended elementary school through the eight grade in Charleston. During her third year at Wasatch High, the family moved to Park City.

On December 24, 1924, she married William W. Richardson, the marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. To them were born boys, William N., Robert E., Clark I., Don N., and in 1929, they became foster parents of seven orphaned nephews and nieces; Lynn, Dwayne, Doyle, Wanda, Wilma, Ferrol, and Deil Gordon. A year before her marriage, Reva was told by a gypsy that she would marry twice and raise enough boys to form a baseball team. She got her nine boys, but no second husband.

Her interests were many and varied. A farmer's daughter, she preferred working with farm animals and in the fields to the more lady like arts of housekeeping. Her favorite sports were riding horses and playing baseball. Her father was also a carpenter, and she loved working with him in that capacity.

With a large family to care for, her spare time was limited and most of it was spent sewing, crocheting, knitting, quilting etc. She has also been active in church and scouting. She was a den mother for several years and taught the Guide class in Primary. She served as counselor in Primary, Sunday school teacher, visiting teacher and work director in Relief Society, drama and speech director, and marrieds class teacher in the Y.W.M.I.A. organization. When her husband was called to serve in the bishopric, much of her time was spent helping him. Their ward was small, and at times she was busy with more than one calling. She tried to fill them all conscientiously.

Her husband was a shift boss at the Silver King Mine and worked through the depression years for three dollars a day. Their home was always open and extra plates on the dinner table, and their children were encouraged to bring their friends, whose fathers were unemployed, home to share their meals.

William retired in 1971, and they moved to Heber City in May. On February 11, 1973, after a long illness, he passed away. Reva still resides at their home in Heber.

RITCHIE, Horace J. and Arvilla Wootton

Horace was born July 5, 1907, in Charleston, Utah, son of John M. Ritchie and Sarah E. Wright Ritchie. His childhood was spent on a farm of registered Hereford cattle and Percheron horses. His

SNOW, James Irvin and Velma Howarth

I was born March 31, 1917, in Heber City, Utah, to Wilford Woodruff and Ellen Mariah Giles Howarth. My parents had four children: Giles, Ray, Zella and me. Ray died in 1940.

When I was baptized, this ordinance was performed in Luke's Hot Pots. I progressed in the Church through seminary graduation one year before I graduated from Wasatch High School.

After graduation, I worked in local stores until I married James Irvin Snow, son of Dominicus Carter and Hannah Selena Harrison Snow, January 16, 1946. My husband, who was a farmer and dairyman, in Provo, Utah, died of a heart attack December 2, 1969. For many years before his death my husband and I cared for his brother, Gardner, who was a victim of multiple sclerosis. He died in 1967. After my husband's death, I returned to Heber City.

One of my great joys has been to serve in the Church where I have been a teacher in the auxiliary organizations, secretary in the YWMIA, librarian and ward historian. I have also been active in the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers.

Handiwork, raising flowers and genealogy, including writing histories, have occupied my spare time.

I have one son, Giles Irvin, who married Martha Lynn Spencer. They were divorced, and he married Sharon James on June 11, 1982. They were sealed July 15, 1983 in the Salt Lake Temple. They have four children: Clifford, Robert, Brooke, and Keith. Giles works at Fort Douglas and they have the Snow Care Center in Center Creek.

SPANTON, William Holland and Minnie Jordan

The home located at 158 West 2nd North was purchased in 1920 by George Borlan and Emma Jordan for the purpose of relocating their three sons and two daughters into town for schooling. The house was a two room home and later four more rooms were added. The house was located next to Nymphus and Ethel Watson. As the children married and left home the home was rented out. When their daughter Minnie married William Holland Spanton, in 1935, they moved into the house and their daughters, Holly and Connie, were born. In 1940, they moved to Ogden and the home was rented until 1949 when William Spanton died of an illness. Minnie then returned to the home in the 2nd Ward with her four daughters, including Betty and Billie Jo. Their ages ranged from 1 year to 14 years. Minnie went to work as a cook in Heber's best restaurants to support her family. She was known for her delicious meals and homemade pies. She also earned the respect of many for her dependability and dedication to her profession. Minnie remained in the 2nd Ward until the girls were raised and then moved to Payson, Utah, where she was co-owner with Holly and Betty of the Firehouse Restaurant noted for its home cooking. They currently own and operate the Santa Queen Drive Inn in Santaquin, Utah, where Minnie, at 79 years of age, serves up her original "Granny Burger". She enjoys traveling and sports events. She has 19 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. Holly and Betty remain active in the food business as well as meeting community and religious responsibilities. Connie is General Manager of a Press and Clipping Service in Provo, Utah. She is active in speaking engagements, community and religious positions. Billie Jo currently resides in Mountain Green, where she remains active in the church and is manager of a Mini World Clothing Store.

All of us hold fond memories of the years spent in the Heber 2nd Ward. Many hard times were made easier for the family by good friends and concerned bishops of the ward. We will never forget Ethel Watson's good cooking and raisin-filled cookies she so generously shared with us, or Nyph's concern for the well-being of our family. They hold a special place in our hearts.

STANLEY, Burton and Annie Elizabeth Davis

She was born in Midway, Wasatch County, Utah, on 16 April, 1881, to Mormon and Louisa Walters Davis. She was the third child in a family of eight children. She was raised in Midway and went to school there. She married Burton Stanley on 12 September, 1900, and they lived in Midway and Park City, where he was a miner. He contracted "miner's consumption" from that mining experience. Their children were all born in Park City. They are:

Clayton Linford, who was born 1 May 1901, and died

9 October, 1945. He married Mary Amelia (Mildred) Hicken. Ernest Gordon, born 6 September, 1902, and died 13 March, 1957. He married Ada Moulton. Chloe Loretta, born 15 February, 1904, and died 19 March, 1985. She married George Angus Thacker. Burton O., born 25 March, 1908, and died 6 May, 1908. Van Alma was born 19 October, 1909, and he died 24 February, 1911. Ruby Mae was born 7 September, 1913, and she still lives in Heber City.

The family moved to Tabiona in 1914 to run a ranch, as the doctors had advised Burton he would live longer and feel better in that climate away from the mines. When his health would no longer permit him to ranch, they moved into the town of Tabiona, and lived there until he died on 13 January, 1938.

Annie lived in Tabiona and worked hard to support herself until the summer of 1944, when she sold her home there and moved to Heber to be near her daughters. She loved flowers and could grow any kind. She especially loved roses, delphiniums and sweet peas. Her yard was always clean and neat and had lots of flowers and shrubs blooming. She also had a raspberry patch behind her home. She was the cook at the Heber hospital for a few years. She was a hard worker and very bright. She was immaculately clean and was a terrific cook. She had lots of friends and her relatives and friends were always made welcome in her home.

She was a proud, independent lady with black eyes, pretty grey hair, a lovely smile, and a good sense of humor. Her grandchildren dearly loved her and she had 20 of them. When I think of her, which I do very often, I can smell roses, delphiniums and sweet peas and I can "taste" her sour cream raisin-filled cookies. She had great courage and resourcefulness and her life was not a bed of roses, but she never complained and she could always find the humor in a given situation. She had a large posterity and we all dearly loved her. She passed away on 20 August, 1955, and she is buried by her husband and three babies in Park City, Utah.

STEELE, Clifton and Billie Jo Spanton

Billie Jo Steele, daughter of Minnie and William Holland Spanton was born December 7, 1947, in Ogden, Utah. When her father passed away in 1948, Minnie and the children moved back to Heber and made their home at 158 West 2nd North. Billie Jo's sisters are Holly, Connie, and Betty.

She married Cliff Steele, son of Jessie and Dorothy Anderson Steele. He was born in Spanish Fork, Utah. Billie Jo had a dream and desire to own a home she had seen being built in the Fifth Ward. One bright day as she rode her bike past the house of Jay Lyon, she saw a "for sale" sign on it. The next thing she knew, she was moving into her dream house where she found many loving friends and neighbors.

The Lord has been good to her, healing her from an accident when a child and making life more beautiful each day. She vowed to serve the Lord and was ready for the various callings in the Church that came including Relief Society President. She felt inadequate but strength came and she served faithfully in that capacity for nearly two years.

Cliff was busy in scouting and dedicated to it. Then he was called to be a Stake Missionary. This was a very good time in their lives and they had many spiritual experiences. Cliff was a good missionary, always giving his best.

They both continued serving in various positions, even after the second realignment of wards put them back in the Second ward again. She was in the Primary presidency, the MIA presidency, and stake MIA presidency. She also served as Relief Society work director, camp director, young marrieds leader, and as a teacher.

When the economy became bad in Heber, Cliff took a position in Ogden as a machinist and when Cindy Jo, who was Senior Class President, graduated from high school, they moved the family to Mt. Green, Utah, closer to Cliff's employment.

Their family are: Cindy Jo, Jared, Aarron, Adam, Angela Jo, Amy, Joshua, and Jenny Jo.

We know we are better people and a better family for having spent most of our lives in a loving, friendly ward!!

STRINGHAM, Jack D. M.D., and Marion Lois Smith

My parents, Ralph and Vera Stringham, moved to the Park Utah Mine west of Keetley in 1921. Four children came into their family: Ralph Jr., February 22, 1922; Jack D., February 26, 1924; Henry D., September 25, 1925; and Martha Jane, January 17, 1936.

We lived in a small frame home in a row of nine cottages. In my early years, before the depression of the 1930's, the mine was a busy, bustling mining camp with several hundred miners living in bunk houses at the mine.

I remember as a high school student learning we were part of the Heber 2nd Ward. Though there were many good Christian people at the mine, I remember only one active Mormon family, Richard and Merle Glazier with their son, Penrod, and daughter, JoAnn.

Those my age and older attended school in the two room red school house at Keetley (still standing) one mile from the mine. Mrs. Jackson taught the first, second and third and sixth grades in the other room. If the roar of an airplane was heard, school was temporarily dismissed to see it fly by. After my first year of school, 1930-1931, the red school house was closed and we were all bused to the North School in Heber City.

Keetley was good to us while growing from infancy to our late teen years. We had the advantage of the great outdoors, life in the mountains, hills and meadows, as well as the opportunity to work at the mine during the summer months. Before the depression years, there were many humble frame homes in Keetley plus the questionable "Blue Goose", a dance hall. The crowds were mainly the miners and their girl friends. The Blue Goose, as well as many of the small frame homes, were soon empty because of the depression years. However, I remember before leaving home in 1943, Keetley had become a refuge camp for some deported California Japanese. They were industrious and made the fields fertile once again, growing a variety of garden vegetables.

Though we were not active in the Church while living at the mine, we lived the basic principles taught. Later in life, after moving to Salt Lake, my mother and father were sealed in the Salt Lake Temple and served a mission in Maryland. Henry and I were baptized into the Church after high school.

Following World War II, Henry served a mission in Brazil and I continued my medical school training, receiving my M.D. degree in 1948. My older brother, Ralph, has never been active in the Church, but is a great Christian individual. He received his college degree in engineering at MIT (Massachusetts Institute of Technology). He then went to work for Douglas Aircraft, later McDonald Douglas, becoming the director of the Department of Flutter and Vibration. He has now retired but remains as a consultant to McDonald Douglas.

Henry was married to Mable Eldredge in the Salt Lake Temple. He has had many church callings including bishop. He is now a temple worker. He is the father of ten children, eight girls and two boys, and president of Stringham Lumber Company which was started in 1946 by our father.

My sister, Martha, was married in the Salt Lake Temple to Carl Wankier. They have four children, all very active in the church. Carl is currently in the bishopric. Martha has held many leadership positions in Primary, Mutual and Relief Society at both Ward and Stake levels.

I have held many church positions in Sunday School, Elders Quorum and Mutual, both Ward and Stake, and Stake High Council. I have also been a guide on Temple Square.

Marian Lois Smith of Ogden and I were married in the Salt Lake Temple May 25, 1949. She is an accomplished violinist, a past member of the Utah Symphony Orchestra. She is also very talented in the field of floral arrangements. She was responsible for the floral decorations at a Church banquet honoring the Queen of Thailand in 1985. We are the proud parents of five children (one died at age 7) and grandparents to twelve wonderful children ages three to thirteen years. My two sons, Henry's two sons, and two sons of Martha's have all served honorable missions. Mark, Martha's sixteen year old son, I am sure will also serve when he reaches missionary age.

My professional career began in 1949, serving in the Navy one year before the Korean War and one year after. Since then, I have been in the specialty of anesthesiology. I practiced at the LDS Hospital for 31 years. During those years I held several positions in organized medicine including president of the LDS Hospital Medical Staff, Utah State Society of Anesthesiologists, Salt Lake County Medical Society, and the Utah State Medical Association as well as President of the University of Utah College of Medicine Alumni. In December 1984, I became the Medical Director of the Intermountain Surgical Center which position I currently hold in addition to my anesthesiology practice.

My mother, Vera Stringham, now in her 86th year, is very healthy and busy. She has written her autobiography, has attended classes at Dixie College and is currently compiling a book of poems she has authored over many years. She keeps physically active by swimming, riding her bicycle and golfing. My father died September 10, 1975.

STREBEL, George L. and Alda McDonald

The George L. Strebel family moved in the Heber Second Ward the fall of 1943. They purchased the home at 132 West Center, across from the Second Ward church house. George had been assigned as an instructor in the Wasatch Stake L.D.S. Seminary.

George L. Strebel was born in Roosevelt, Utah, to Andrew and Hilma Strebel on February 7, 1912. He graduated from Roosevelt High School. He filled an L.D.S. mission to Germany from 1930-33. George graduated from B.Y.U. in 1938 and married Alda McDonald, June 3, 1938. He taught seminary in Panguitch, Utah, for five years before moving to Heber. George taught the gospel doctrine class in the Heber Second Ward, along with other church assignments.

George moved his family from Heber to Berkeley, California, in the fall of 1955, where he earned a degree of Doctor of L.D.S. History. He taught at the B.Y.U., College of Southern Utah, and at Utah State University in the L.D.S. Institutes program. During the summers from 1964 to 1971, he taught for the Foreign Study League program in many foreign countries.

George died in Logan, Utah January 3, 1978.

Alda McDonald Strebel was born to Andrew and Elizabeth McDonald in Heber, Utah, March 13, 1913. She graduated from Wasatch High School in 1931. She received a teaching certificate from B.Y.U. and taught five years in Heber before her marriage. Alda was an organist in one of the auxiliaries, along with ward and stake assignments, the twelve years the family lived in the ward.

Their children are Beth Anne, Andrew, Hilma and James Lynn. All are college graduates. Three have enjoyed L.D.S. missions — Beth Anne to Germany, Andrew to North Mexico, and James Lynn to Scotland. They have twenty-three grandchildren.

Alda has just published a beautiful and interesting biography of her life called "Love is Eternal".

SWAIN, Jay W. and Theola Remund

Jay was born February 19, 1916, in Charleston, Utah, to Joseph F. and Lacy Watson Swain. Jay was the oldest of the family. Jay's brothers and sisters are a foster brother, Ernest Bartell (deceased), Dorothy Payne, Pauline Horner (deceased), Harry L. Swain (deceased), Mack F. Swain, and Mima Daniels. Jay's father passed away in 1942 at age 52 and his mother passed away in 1986 at age 92.

Jay and his family moved to Daniels, while he was small, to the home now occupied by Veora Collard.

After attending the Daniels School, he graduated in May 1934 from Wasatch High.

Jay helped his Dad on the farm while his dad worked on County Roads and was a CCC Camp Foreman in Heber and Provo.

Theola Remund was born July 6, 1918 in Park City, Utah to Charles L. and Pheobe Orgill Remund. Later the family moved to Daniels in the home where Lloyd Remund lives now. She was the second child born to a family of five. They are Arthella Bethers, Velda Widdison, Arlene Sinclair, and Leon, who was born dead. Her mother passed away with heart trouble when she was twelve years old.

After Theola went to school at Daniels, she graduated in May, 1935, from Wasatch High.

Her dad married Lottie Carlen Elliot who helped Dad raise the children until they were married. To this union were born Jeanine McKenzie and Lloyd Remund, making six children in the family.

Jay and Theola were married October 1, 1936, in Coalville, Utah. Then on March 28, 1938, they went to the Salt Lake Temple and were sealed for time and eternity.

In March, 1944, Jay was called into the army, World War II. He was stationed at the Philippines, Manila, northern Luzon, and Tokyo, Japan. He served six months after the bombing of Hiroshima, then had an honorable release.

Jay and Theola are the parents of three children: Phil (deceased at age 22), Elva Baum, and Mark Swain. They have eight grandchildren.

Fla
H
In March, 1949, President Clay Cummings asked Jay to go to the Stake Welfare Farm at Hailstone to supervise the milking of several cows and farming.

They were then in the Second Ward while Leonard Giles was bishop. They lived five years in the Second Ward until the ward was divided moving them to the Fifth Ward. Jay and Theola were Sunday School teachers.

Jay has served in many church capacities. He was counselor in Sunday School, First Counselor in the 5th Ward Bishopric with Bart Moulton and Byron Cheever, Stake Missionary, one of the seven Presidents of Seventies, High Priest Quorum Counselor, High Priest Quorum President, home teacher, and temple worker.

Theola was counselor in Primary, Primary teacher, MIA President, Stake Primary Co-Pilot Teacher, Stake Primary Counselor to Faye McNaughton, Stake Missionary, quilt chairman — Relief Society, visiting teacher, Stake and ward librarian, and temple worker.

In June 1965, Jay and Theola moved to Heber at 221 North 200 West where they have lived since moving back to Heber.

Jay worked for Heber City retiring in 1981. Theola worked for Wasatch School District as secretary of the high school, meeting so many wonderful students, for 24 years and retiring in 1983.

Jay and Theola have a great heritage. Their family is of most importance to them. Jay and Theola are still temple workers and enjoy this.

SWEAT, Ora Galli

I, Ora Galli Sweat, was born 10 December, 1888, in my grandmother's (Anna Katrina Jensen Christensen) two-room log cabin in Pleasant Grove, Utah, to Anna Tomine Marie Christensen and Joseph Galli. We lived in Park City before moving to Midway, Utah.

My childhood was pleasant, shared with my five brothers and five sisters. I received my grade school, as well as my religious training, in Midway. We had a graduation exercise and received a diploma from the 8th Grade.

I remember when they made two wards in Midway; I was in the Midway First Ward and worked in all the organizations, and was in the choir. I was baptized in Uncle Ulrick Abegglen's bathhouse.

When I was 10 years old Mother had her sixth child. They used to keep the mother in bed two weeks after the baby was born. The Doctor delivered the baby at home and I cared for Mother, cooked, cleaned and cared for the other children. Neighbors did the washing for us.

I helped my father in the field, as Bro. Clarence could not stand the heat. I tromped the hay on the wagon while Father pitched it on; then I loaded the big harpoon fork to pull the hay up on the stack or into the barn. I wore old kid gloves which kept my hands soft and white.

In the Fall of 1907, my folks decided I could go to B.Y.U., if I would work for part of my board and room, which I did for that school year, 1907-1908. Then I went for 10 weeks to the Summer School at the University of Utah. That qualified me to teach school.

I taught school one year, at Elkhorn School, in Wasatch County. The school house stood where the lumber camp was built, at the turn off to Kamas. All eight grades were in one room, except second grade that year, for lack of children that age.

I was married to Hyrum Shelton, and had one daughter, Gladys Lucile. Then I married Lewis Sweat Jr., and we were sealed, and Gladys sealed to us in the Salt Lake Temple. Lewis and I had nine children; Lois Ora Anderson, Alice Deveraux, Dean Lewis Sweat, Nelda Lyrene Watkins, Alta Meeks, Floyd "J" Sweat, Avis, Delvene Bronson and Jo Ann Veatch. We lived in Center Creek and were active in the Church and civic affairs.

On March 1, 1944, Lew passed away and I bought a home next to the old Hospital on 100 South in Heber. JoAnn and I, lived there until 1952, when we went to Los Angeles, California, to help Delvene, while Keith was in the hospital with polio. I loved the Second Ward and did much temple work while there. I was "Temple Queen" for a number of years, for doing the most endowments, which was a great blessing to me.

I have had arthritis since about 1930, when I was in bed for most of two years. I have been very blessed though, too. I sewed for all of my children, even making coats for the girls and over coats for the boys. I made all our quilts, and many many for other people. I have made quilts for my children, and all of my 36 grandchildren, and one for each of the first great grandchildren, in each family. (I have 94 great-grandchildren and 50 great-great-grandchildren — 1987).

I have lived in Payson, with Lois and Ray most of the time since 1954, but I visit and stay with each of my children.

“Mother continued to sew quilts and write letters right up to the day before she had a partial stroke. She passed away July 13, 1974, one week later. She was always so thankful for everything that was done for her, cheerful, never complaining and easy to care for.

Written by her daughter Delvene Bronson

THACKER, George Angus (Pudd) and Chloe Stanley

Pudd and Chloe moved into the Heber Second ward in 1943. Wayne and Anna were still in school, and graduated from the high school and seminary from this ward. They lived there until 1956, when they bought a home in the Heber Fifth Ward. Angus was born in Charleston, 19 June, 1899, to Charles Edwin and Maria Rawlins Price Thacker, and lived in Wasatch County all but two years of his life. He called this valley “Zion”, and he loved it dearly and all the people in it. Chloe was born, 15 February, 1904, in Park City, to Burton and Annie Elizabeth Davis Stanley. She moved to Tabiona in 1916, and met Angus there in 1918. They were married in Duchesne on 9 February, 1921, and lived happily together for 58 years and 10 months, until he died 1 November, 1979. They were good parents and good neighbors, honest, hard working and fun loving. They had many, many good friends and were a favorite Aunt and Uncle to many nieces and nephews. Their marriage was sealed in the Salt Lake Temple on 6 September, 1938. They loved to dance and won many waltz contests in their younger days. Angus played the mandolin and had a good singing voice and loved to take part in dramatic productions. He served as scoutmaster in Charleston for many years, and was very proud of all of his “boys”, especially his Eagle scouts. They both had a keen interest in young people, and young folks loved to visit them. They loved to attend ball games and cheer them on.

Their children were Stanley A. born 2 October 1921, died 26 July 1924; Doris, born 10 March 1924, married to Glen M. Gardner and lives now in Lehi, Utah; Glenna, born 12 June, 1927, died 15 February 1940; Anna, born 19 January, 1929, married Paul T. Durrant, now lives in Kaysville, Utah; and Wayne Burton, born 20 January 1929, married Donna Buhler and lives in Heber City. They have 12 grandchildren and to this date, April 1987, 32 great-grandchildren.

Chloe loved to search out genealogy and they both loved to attend the temple. She was also an avid letter writer and kept in touch with many people, friends and relatives and they all enjoyed her fun letters. She loved flowers, and had a green thumb, especially where house plants were concerned. She also loved birds and at various times, had a pet canary or parakeet, which was good company. She was a meticulous housekeeper and did beautiful handwork, especially crocheting and tatting. She died 19 March, 1985.

Angus loved to fish and hunt. His special joy was fishing on the “Big Pond” as he called Strawberry reservoir, and he loved to fish the Provo river, and cook over a campfire with friends. They had a deep eternal love for each other and for their family, and they took great pride in their children, and grandchildren and their accomplishments.

THACKER, Wayne Burton and Donna Buhler

Wayne Burton Thacker was born January 20, 1931, in Charleston, Utah, to George Angus and Chloe Stanley Thacker. The family consisted of Stanley (died at age 3), Doris Gardner, Glenna (died at age 13), Anna Durrant, and Wayne.

In high school, Wayne was active in track and football, served as junior class president, as seminary president, and as student body president. He played M-Men basketball and served in the Elder's Quorum presidency. When his mission to the North Central States was canceled because of the Korean War, he served two years in the United States Marine Corps, being stationed in areas in California and in Seoul, Korea.

His military term ended in January, 1954, and the following May, he married his high school sweetheart, Donna Buhler, who was born January 26, 1932, in Pleasant Grove, Utah, to Morris and Ruth Elizabeth Smith Buhler. Her only sister is Genevieve Buhler Coleman.

In school, Donna was a band twirler, a cheer leader, and top home economics student. While waiting for Wayne, she attended BYU, worked for the Provo Herald, in Salt Lake for the telephone company and in the Commercial Bank in Heber City.

In the church, besides being a dance director with Donna, Wayne served as stake athletic director, as Scout and Young Men leader, on the stake high council, and, at age 27 counselor to Bishop Don Hicken. Then after being on the High Council with President Robert Clyde, the stake was divided and he became a counselor to President Reed Ford, serving 9 years. He now works with the Young Men.

Donna has served in the auxiliaries, ward and stake, as a teacher or in the presidency. She served 4 years as Wasatch Stake Relief Society President.

In the community, Wayne was Fair Board Chairman for 2 years and is active in politics. Donna has served in the PTA, in 4-H clubs, on the county fair board, as organizer of "The Belle Lettre Club", in the Headstart Program, and as a teacher's aide. She has won many ribbons for her handwork.

Wayne's employment has included working in the poultry business, driving truck, farming and carpentry. He loves fine animals and has raised thoroughbred horses and German Short-hair dogs.

Wayne and Donna have four children: Shauna, who graduated from the BYU and married Steven Claude Horner, after his mission to Italy; Lynette, who also graduated from BYU and married Joseph E. Draper, after his mission to Roanoke, Virginia; William B. (Bill) who married Karen Peterson, after he served a mission in Melbourne, Australia and graduated from Utah Technical College in electrical technology; and John who works in photography. They have six grandchildren.

They now live in a home they built on 20 acres of south field ground.

TODD, Donald J. and Ruth Melissa Wright

I, Donald "J" Todd was born August 28, 1915 at Blue Mesa, Duchesne County, Utah, to Thomas R. and Alice Timothy Todd. My mother died when I was three.

At Blue Mesa, better known as Knights Camp, my father owned a small store, but when a wooden flume carrying irrigation water over a narrow canyon collapsed, the town was deserted and my family moved to Roosevelt, where my father bought a farm.

In 1935, I graduated from Alterra High School in Uintah County. Since then, I have been a construction worker, functioning as a truck driver, carpenter, crane operator, painter, and cement finisher on projects ranging from the Heber City Post Office to Deer Creek Dam.

While living in Charleston, I met Ruth Melissa Wright, who was working after school for Verdell Ritchie in "Scrappy's". Ruth was born September 10, 1918, in a log cabin near the Duchesne River, in a place called Utahna, to John E. and Phoebe Lucy Casper Wright. Her family had moved to Charleston, when she was very young, so she was educated in Wasatch and graduated from Wasatch High in 1937. After our two children, Thomas Jae and Dawna Rae (Page) were born, she worked in the J.C. Penney Store in Heber City for twenty-two years.

Both Ruth and I have been active in the Church for many years. I have filled a three-year stake mission, have served in the Sunday School presidency, on a genealogy committee, and as stake and ward athletic director. One of our teams made it to the All-Church finals.

Almost all of Ruth's callings in the Church have been to work with the young people whom she dearly loves. She had a perfect attendance in the Y.W.M.I.A. for fifteen years.

Together we were able to reactivate many friends through our assignment to prepare and serve banquets. We both have strong testimonies of the gospel, and we have found great joy in our service to the Church and in associations with our family. As Dawna Rae says, "No one goes hungry from Mom's house".

VAN WAGONER, Ferrin Dean and Venice Moon

Ferrin Dean Van Wagoner was born in Midway, Utah September 10, 1917, to Joseph Monroe and Edith Agnes Bronson Van Wagoner. He attended schools in Midway and Heber City and graduated from Wasatch High School and Seminary.

By the time he reached ninth grade, he was playing first chair in the junior high band and had organized a dance band of his own. That year, his brother El Roy won the Dickson Solo Medal. Ferrin vowed secretly that he would earn the same honor, which he did, two years later.

Ferrin's father died during the flu epidemic, at the close of World War I. Of his mother, Ferrin wrote, "Not enough can be said of the magnificent courage of my stately and beautiful mother. After my father was taken in the prime of his life, she devoted her life to her six children...I suppose our family was poor, but we never knew it."

After high school graduation, Ferrin was awarded a work scholarship at BYU, but when, because of his musical ability, he was offered a tuition scholarship and free dormitory lodging at Weber State College, he transferred there and soon organized a college dance band. Even so, he was hard pressed to keep from going hungry.

When he graduated from Weber State, he wanted to continue his education. However, there was no money, so, when William J. Bond, superintendent of the Duchesne County Schools offered him a position, teaching music and other subjects at Tabiona High School, he accepted. From the beginning he loved the work and spent endless hours working with his students.

Venice Moon was born in Woodland, Utah, August 8, 1922, a twin daughter of Heber and Emily H. Van Tassell Moon. They were the first girls in the family after seven boys.

Venice and her twin sister Florence were always together. They sang humorous songs for the school programs, played alto saxophones in the high school band and often played duets. They were featured in the Salt Lake Tribune as the "Twin Tooters" from Tabiona High, when they attended a music festival in Price, Utah. They also participated in school operettas.

She remembers vividly the day Ferrin Van Wagoner walked into the band room and some of her classmates challenged her to "get him." She replied that the idea was silly. However, two months later, he asked her for a date.

They were married October 28, 1939, and on June 6, 1940, they joined Florence and Claus Johnson to be sealed in the Salt Lake Temple.

Ferrin continued to teach in Tabiona High, and spent his summers at BYU, from which he graduated, with a bachelor of science degree. In 1946, the couple and their two children moved to Heber City, where Ferrin continued to teach and was in partnership with his brother in the dairy business. He later became principal of Wasatch High School and was superintendent of Wasatch School District from 1952 to 1970.

While living in Heber City, they were blessed with four more children. Ferrin was busy with his fulltime employment, playing for dances, serving in callings in the Church, teaching "Child Development" classes and earning his Master's and Ph.D. degrees. He achieved an academic record so impressive, that he was chosen to represent the graduation class at the convocation service, graduating cum laude August 17, 1967.

In 1959, the White House Conference Committee became interested in the youth program in Wasatch County, a pilot program which someone described as an attempt to account for every boy and girl between the ages of five and twenty years in Wasatch County.

Venice, meantime, was busy with her family, the P.T.A., 4H classes, the Shakespearean Club, the Choralettes, and filling responsible callings in the auxiliaries of the Church.

In 1970, Dr. Van Wagoner accepted a position with the Utah State Board of Education, as Coordinator of Secondary Education. For two years he commuted, then in 1972, they moved to their present home, near Big Cottonwood Canyon. While Ferrin was busy at the state office, Venice trained and became a certified fashion and beauty consultant.

Although Ferrin and Venice have accomplished much, their children, Annette, Gordon, Kendall, Sherilynn, Derry and Bret and their grandchildren are of most importance.

On January 19, 1984, Dr. Ferrin D. Van Wagoner passed away in Helena, Montana. He and Venice had gone to Montana to spend the holidays with Kendall, Pam and family.

Venice feels grateful for her children, who are all active in the Church and who have helped her during the lonely years, since their father died.

VAN WAGONER, Paul H. and Phyllis Murdoch

Paul H. and Phyllis Murdoch Van Wagoner lived in the Heber 2nd Ward during 1937 and 1938. They lived in the apartment house belonging to Clayton Montgomery across from Dona and Clayton's home. Frank and Lucinda Popp and their family lived in one apartment. Maida and Karl Bodily lived in the apartment house. (Maida had a beauty shop upstairs in the old bank building.) She and Phyllis became good friends. Later, LeRoy Lewis and Thelma Giles Lewis lived there also.

Paul and Phyllis' first son was born in the old Heber Hospital on August 5, 1937. He was delivered by Dr. T.A. Dannenberg. Their son was named in the old Second Ward by his father. He was given the name of Philip Van Wagoner. His little cousin Ann Thacker, daughter of Afton and Virginia Van Wagoner Thacker was blessed by Paul the same day. Paul was superintendent of the Sunday School. His Uncle Alfred Sharp was one of his counselors. During this time, Paul was ordained as a new member of the Heber High Council (by George Albert Smith).

Phyllis and her sisters, Dona Montgomery and Vida Fillmore (Mrs. Glen Fillmore), sang as a trio for many meetings and parties. They sang acappella and could strike up a tune anywhere. Two or three times, they sang at the court house for marriages performed there by Alfred Sharp, County Clerk. About this same time, the Heber Mercantile burned to the ground where Paul was employed.

They bought their first car, a used Ford, which had belonged to Hilton Burch. Phyllis and Philip traveled to Vineyard through the construction of the Deer Creek Dam, which was rough traveling.

Paul and Phyllis had a new home built by Ashton, for $3,000 which seemed a lot of money then. This took them into the Heber 3rd Ward on 300 South 200 West.

The Heber 2nd Ward has always seemed like home, because that is where Phyllis was born, in 1914, to Joseph A. and Martha E. Murdoch, where their family lived for many years.

WATSON, Robert Simpson

Robert Simpson Watson was born September 24, 1924, at Charleston, Utah, to Henry Fowles and Ella Maria Murdock Watson. He was the youngest of eleven brothers and sisters who enjoyed their growingup years on the Watson Ranch. Bob was educated in the schools at Charleston and Heber City. He loved the young people of the Church and served many years as a Scout leader and in other programs of the youth. At the time of his death, he was a counselor in the Bishopric of the Heber Second Ward.

The Salt Lake Temple was the place he chose to marry Yvonne Cummings on November 15, 1937. Three sweet children came to bless their lives, Robert Vaughn, Dwayne Clay and Karolyn Yvonne. A home was purchased at 300 North Main, Heber City. Their joy was unbounded.

It was Mother's Day, May 13, 1944 that Bob passed away suddenly, from injuries suffered a few days earlier in an accident. He had lived but 29 years on this earth, and yet his accomplishments were great. He truly loved the Lord and his fellowmen, and this was the motivating force in his life whether at work or with family and friends.

He bore an unwavering testimony the Sunday before he died as he conducted Testimony Meeting, in the Heber Second Ward and said, "I KNOW that God lives, Jesus Christ is my brother, that the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is TRUE. 'Love One Another'."

WITT, Floyd L. and Wilma Ann Street

Floyd L. Witt was born December 23, 1919 to Franklin Leo and Maud A. Waddell Witt at 167 North 600 West, Heber City, Utah. Floyd was the 6th child in the family. He attended the grade schools, then graduated from Seminary and High School in 1938. He helped on the family farm and also worked as a miner in Park City.

After serving in the U.S. Army Air Force for 4 years, he returned home and was married to Wilma Ann Street, June 20, 1923. Her parents were Simon and Rachel Casper Street of Midway, Utah.

Wilma served in many positions in the church, both in the ward and in the Stake as Sunday School Coordinator, Y.W.M.I.A. organizations, stake S. S. Board and Relief Society. She worked 19 years as an aid in the Wasatch County Mental Retardation Training Center, having been a charter member of that group.

They were sealed for time and Eternity in Salt Lake Temple August 1, 1963.

Floyd worked as a Livestock Brand Inspector for the Utah Department of Agriculture until 1952, when he was appointed Wasatch County Deputy Sheriff, then Sheriff, where he was elected to this office 5 terms. In 1979, he accepted employment at the Deer Creek Power Plant, retiring in 1985. He now enjoys farming and cattle as a hobby.

Floyd graduated from the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Training Academy in 1965 and is a member of 'Who's Who' in the West. He has been active in many local civic organizations, and served as instructor for Red Cross first aid and water safety, emergency medical technician, and boy Scouts of America. Also served as President, Stake Director and Chairman of national Sheriff, and Peace Officer Association, along with Forest Fire Prevention and Control.

He has served in both Ward and Stake M.I.A. and Sunday School position and has been executive secretary, as clerk for four Bishops. He now is serving as 5th Ward Clerk.

Their 4 children are; Joel, deceased; Betty Gay Bethers; Kim who served an L.D.S. Mission in Portland Oregon; and Leo Witt.

They have 9 grandchildren.

Wilma passed away July 22, 1983.

WITT, Franklin Leo and Maud Waddell

Frank Witt was born February 15, 1872, one of eleven children to John Wesley and LaVina Bigelow Witt, in Heber City, Utah. Maud's parents were Sylvanus C. and Winnifred Smith Waddell and she was born in Park City, Utah, October 4, 1878.

Maud, with her parents moved to north Heber and lived on the Abram Hatch property, now owned by Vern and Relva Price.

When Maud went to work as a housekeeper, in the Witt home, she fell in love with and married Frank, June 2, 1898, in Heber City, Utah. Later, they and their four children were sealed in the Salt Lake Temple, March 1, 1916.

Frank worked as a ward teacher, counselor in Y.M.M.I.A. and was on the Genealogy Committee. He was active as a farmer and electric light and power linesman. He passed away after an accident while re-doing a house at the age of 83.

They were remodeling their home at 197 N. 6th West when it burned down about 1959 and they moved to 248 West 200 North where Maud continued to live, after the death of her husband until she was 97. She had been active in 4-H club work and Sunday School, M.I.A. and Relief Society organization.

Their children are Viva W. Kingston (now 88 years old), Wilma W. Bunker (deceased), Wayne A. Witt (deceased), Leo Lamerle (deceased), Orva W. McDonald and Floyd Witt.

WRIGHT, John E. and Phoebe Lucy Casper

Phoebe Lucy Casper Wright was born in Charleston, Utah, to Nephi and Lucy Edwards Casper. She married John E. Wright. He was born to William Wright and Mary Jane Baum, on October 18, 1883 at Charleston, Utah.

Their marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple.

They were parents of six children: William E. Wright, (Bill), Verda Wright Leahy, Lucy Wright Jones Crump, Mabel Wright Payne, Ruth Wright Todd, and John Raymond Wright, (Ray).

John died January 21, 1945 in Charleston; then Phoebe moved to Heber and lived in the Heber 2nd and 5th Wards until time of her death on October 6, 1969.

She was noted for her cherry pies and made many for friends and relatives. She also made pies for the ward to sell at their booths on Fair days.

John's mother, a second wife, helped raise 9 children and then was blessed with 16 more children, all hard working, honest, and up-right in their dealings.

Life was hard on the ranch especially when their father, William, was called to serve a mission to England. Indians camped in the river bottoms and many times ate at their table.

John and Phoebe taught their children that work was a blessing and service to fellow man and God was the purpose of our experience here on earth.

YOUNG, Welby Wilson

Welby Wilson Young, son of William G. and Edna Wilson Young, was born August 4, 1910 in Heber City where he gave life long service to his church and community. He was educated in Heber City schools and graduated from Wasatch High, as salutatorian. His efforts there prepared him to represent B.Y.U. as a debater and extemporaneous speaker.

He was a High Priest in Heber 2nd Ward and served in the Presidency of the Quorum and in many other teaching and auxiliary positions. He served a mission to East Central States in 1930.

After serving many years in Wasatch Stake High Council, he was made a counselor in the Presidency, serving with H. Clay Cummings and Nephi Probst.

Welby represented the Stake in many welfare programs, also served 3 terms in the House of Representatives.

As a rancher and dairy man, he belonged to many dairy organizations to improve milk productions and marketing and spent much time and effort researching Utah water needs.

He passed away February 15, 1986 at the age of 75.

YOUNG, William George and Margaret Edna Wilson

William (Will) George Young was born April 22, 1884 in Heber City, the son of Brigham Jonathan and Sarah Ann McDonald Young. As he grew up, he helped on the family farm, attended school in Heber, and was a member of the Heber East Ward. In 1898 he attended the newly organized Riverdale Sunday School, where his father was a member of the Superintendency. He enrolled in the missionary training class at B.Y. Academy, in August 1903. He left for the New Zealand Mission February 24, 1904, where he served for three years and three months. He had many faith promoting experiences during his mission, which influenced his entire life. He always loved the Maori people and enjoyed speaking their language and reading his Maori Book of Mormon as long as he lived.

He married Margaret Edna Wilson, December 18, 1907, in the Salt Lake Temple. She was born in Salt Lake City, April 22, 1884, the same day as her husband, the daughter of James Brigham Wilson and Margaret Powell Wilson. The family moved to Midway, Utah when she was a baby. She grew up in Midway. She graduated from the Keister Tailoring School in Salt Lake City and also received a Teaching Degree from B.Y. Academy. She taught in the Midway school, two years before her marriage. As a young couple with two children, they bought a home in the Heber 2nd Ward and remained members of that ward until new boundaries were set in 1954. They served in various auxiliary organizations. He was a member of the High Council for eighteen years. She taught the Social Service lesson in Relief Society for many years and was a Visiting Teacher, most of her married life. She considered this calling very important. They sent seven of their eight children on missions, during and after the Great Depression when farm prices were at an alltime low. (Arthur was inducted into the army at the time he would have served a mission).

In 1918 the family moved to a newly built house on their farm two and onehalf miles north of Heber. At that time there were no cars and the unpaved roads were muddy, with deep ruts during the spring and fall. A team of horses furnished transportation to church, pulling a wagon box set on sleigh runners in the winter, and a surrey (with a fringed top) when the snow melted. At that time, Sunday School was dismissed at noon and Sacrament Meeting began at 2:00 p.m. As there was not time to go home between meetings, the Young family brought a lunch and ate it in the wagon or surrey, while they waited for Sacrament meeting to begin.

It was a privilege to grow up in the Heber 2nd Ward; it was filled with good people. Several members had crossed the plains as children, and would frequently bear unforgettable testimonies, telling of their hardships, but emphasizing their blessings and appreciation of the gospel. Many accomplished musicians lived in the ward, taking part on ward programs and as skilled choristers teaching the gospel through song. Humble, loving teachers taught powerful, long remembered lessons. The annual ward party was a happy time for young and old. There were fun activities on weekdays for all ages. Each year teenagers were taken to the Salt Lake Temple where they were baptized for the dead, and then later enjoyed the wonders of Saltair.

A complete record for every member of the Young family was kept by their parents. This record was 100% accurate when checked with official sources. Two of the Young family died as young children: Eva, age six weeks, died June 16, 1924; James Grant, age eighteen months, died June 14, 1927. Other children were: Wilson LeRoi, Welby William (died February 15, 1986), Erma, Sylvia, David Powell, Arthur B., Edith, and Ross Morgan.

Three of the family gave military service: David was inducted January 10, 1942, and discharged February 1936, with the rank of Captain. He served in the Field Artillery in the European Theater of World War II. He received the bronze star and ten battle stars, including the Battle of the Bulge. Arthur served in the Air Force from October, 1942 until October, 1945. He served in the Pacific Area with the 22nd Bomb Group, as an airplane mechanic. Ross served from July, 1952, until June, 1954. He served in the states with the Military Police and with the Veterinarian Corps.
